TRUST PEOPLE IN HEALTH AFFAIRS

They Will Then Take Care of Themselves, Says Dr. Hutchinson.

NO NEED OF MYSTERY

Washington, Sept. 20.—"Trust the people and they will take care of themselves in health affairs without being driven," declared Dr. Woods Hutchinson, of New York, in an address today before the American Public Health association.

The time has passed, he said, when any of the trappings of mystery need be plated about questions relating to public health. Twenty-five years ago, when medical knowledge was much less advanced, mystery was probably necessary, he declared, but full publicity is needed today.

'Health authorities should not try to make the people believe that they know it all," said he. "They should trust the people into their full confidence with what they do know and tell them that as knowledge of health problems increase, it will be imparted to the people."

Wide publicity and discussion of health problems, he declared, were doing more to bring the United States into an excellent state of health than the strictly enforced laws in some other countries.

Among the topics scheduled for discussion at today's session were questions of publicity in public health work, recent public health legislation, street cleaning, ventilation in mills and school rooms and the proper supervision of sewage disposal works.

RACES GO OVER UNTIL TUESDAY

First of Scheduled Auto Events Deferred Owing to Wet Track.

SEE BIG DANGER MENACE IN MUD

Much Fear Expressed That Wisconsin Course is Not Safe One.

Wauwatosa Race Course, Wis., Sept. 20.—After waiting until nearly 2 o'clock for fair weather, the Pabst and the Wisconsin trophy races, scheduled to open the big Vanderbilt cup meet today, were postponed until Tuesday because of the condition of the course. It was announced, however, that the Vanderbilt race would be run tomorrow and the grand prix on Monday.

Rain early today caused the hour for starting the auto drivers to be carried over from noon to 2 o'clock. A brisk wind was blowing and the sun later broke through the dense fog, which had hung over the course. Thousands of spectators lined the course and despite the announcement of the delay remained in the grand stands and parking places until the announcement of the final postponement of the two events until Tuesday was made.

Thirteen Races Deadly.

Thirteen drivers with their mechanicians and cars, on what some of them declared to be a dangerous course, prepared this morning to start in the first two races of the three day Vanderbilt cup race meeting given by the Milwaukee Automobile Dealers' association. A thunderstorm about five o'clock this morning succeeded by cloudy weather indicated a possibility of further postponement, although the officials hoped to race despite rain.

Five of the entrants were scheduled to drive twenty-one laps of a 7.882 mile circuit, or 165.52 miles, with light weight cars for the Wisconsin challenge cup and $1,875 in cash.

Eight of the thirteen were entered for the Pabst trophy at 204.93 miles or 26 laps of a 7.882-mile course, with cash prizes totalling $1,875 offered to the first four starters to finish.

Both races were to be run off simultaneously, the cars being started at thirty second intervals.

The drivers who lined up for these two races, awaiting noon, the hour set for the start, were:

Wisconsin Trophy—Kulick, Ford car; Snyder, Mason car; Mason, Mason car; Heber, E. M. F. car; Endicott, Mason car.

Pabst Trophy—Nikrent, Case car; Momson, Bergdoll; Wishart, Mercer; Hastings, Falcar; Roberts, Mason; Pullen, Mercer; Trussel, Falcar; Hughes, Mercer.

Question Safety of Course.

Although these two small car races were scheduled merely as a curtain raiser to Saturday's Vanderbilt cup race and Monday's $10,000 Grand Prix contest, unusual interest had been aroused by arguments between drivers and race officials as to the danger or safety of the course. Many of the drivers declared the course, only completed by day and night effort after one postponement of the program, was extremely dangerous. Officials and promoters of the race meeting were equally insistent that the track was safe. The drivers said the roadway to begin with, was too narrow, making it hazardous for cars to attempt to pass each other at high speed on the stretch aways. In

MINDING OWN BUSINESS RECIPE FOR LONG LIFE.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 20.—"To what do you ascribe your long life," was asked Christian Swain, whose one hundred and first birthday anniversary was celebrated today at McCulloch park.

Swain replied: "I owe my long life largely, I think, to minding my own business and not meddling with my neighbors' affairs."

Swain, when only twenty-two years old, walked to this part of the county after arriving in New York city on a sailing vessel from Dornstead, Germany.

Colonel Roosevelt Opens Up on Nebraskan in His Own State.

OTHERS ON THE LIST

Hastings, Neb., Sept. 20.—Criticising republican leaders in general and Victor Rosewater, of Omaha, former republican national committeeman, in particular, Col. Roosevelt opened his campaign in Nebraska today. He said in part:

"In this district or in any other district the only way in which republicans can show themselves true to Abraham Lincoln is to support the progressive party. Penrose, Barnes and your own Victor Rosewater were engaged at the Chicago convention in scuttling the republican ship. They cared nothing for the principles of the party. All they wanted was to keep the power for their own purposes and if they could not keep it without ruining the party they were glad to ruin the party.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—"I protested to the Aero Club of Illinois against flying in the approaching darkness, but they insisted I should fly because the crowd would be disappointed if I did not."

George Mestach, the French aviator, so testified today at the inquest into the death of Howard W. Gill, the Baltimore aviator, who was killed at the aviation meet at Cicero last Saturday, after his biplane, seventy-five feet in the air, had collided with a monoplane driven by Mestach. The accident to Gill occurred at 6 p. m. when the twilight was

ENOUGH FOR BIG OMELET.

Traction Car Provides Material by Hitting Huckster Wagon.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Sept. 20.—A material for a big omelet was provided at Watter, ten miles from the city, when an express car of the Louisville & Northern Railway and Lighting company struck the tail end of a huckster wagon, driven by William Baird, of Owen, and demolished it. Baird was thrown out but not hurt and his mules escaped. Two chickens escaped but were recovered. Several hundred dozen eggs were scrambled.

The man slept in the loft. He arose in his sleep and walked to the hole leading to the lower part of the building and fell. Jacoby's collar bone was broken and his back was sprained. He will recover.

Standard Oil Has No Relations With Its Former Subsidiaries.

OLD PRACTICES ALL ABOLISHED

Various Companies Now in Real Competition, Declares Mr. Veit.

New York, Sept. 20.—Interlocking directorates, consultations, confidential plans and exchange of views among the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and its former subsidiaries comprising the oil trust which the federal supreme court ordered dissolved, have been abolished utterly according to testimony of Richard C. Veit, secretary of the Standard Oil company of New York.

Mr. Veit resumed the stand today in the hearing here before a referee of a phase of the Standard Oil-Waters-Pierce litigation originating in Missouri. "Prior to the dissolution of the trust last December," Mr. Veit said, "the officers of Standard Oil subsidiaries continually conferred with me and the managers of other subsidiary companies. I also conferred with other managers regarding the situation. Since the dissolution this has been stopped absolutely."

Since the dissolution, Mr. Veit added, both the New York and New Jersey companies have begun the construction of fleets of oil schooners to compete for trade. Six vessels were already under construction by the New York company he said. The New Jersey company was building a fleet in Germany.

Untermeyer Doesn't Think So.

In a diningroom at No. 26 Broadway and at the same table where heads of the Standard Oil planned and discussed the affairs of the trust in years gone by, there meet daily at luncheon the men who then directed the affairs of the company. So declared Richard C. Veit, secretary of the Standard Oil company of New York, testifying before a referee in the Standard Oil-Waters-Pierce litigation.

"Who meets there?" inquired Samuel Untermeyer, counsel for the Waters-Pierce interests.

"I don't know all of them."

"Does John D. Archbold still sit at that table?"

"Yes."

"Does Percy Rockefeller?"

"Yes."

Similar questions elicited the information that others who sat at the "table" were John D. Rockefeller, Wm. Rockefeller, J. A. Moffett, A. C. Bedford, H. C. Folger, C. M. Pratt, Walter Jennings, W. C. Teagle, M. F. Elliott and others

DOGS TRAILING THE FIREBUGS

New Attempts at Incendiarism in West Virginia Region.

SOLDIERS TAKE UP HUNT IN MOUNTAINS

Bullets Fail to Fell Men Who Seek to Burn Mine Property.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 20.—Scores of soldiers with bloodhounds are searching the mountains at the head of Carbon creek today for the men who last midnight tried to fire the tipple of the South Carbon Coal company and the residence of Charles Cable, superintendent of the mine.

Creeping along the paths in the dense forest, unknown parties passed through the lines of guardsmen and making their way to the tipple saturated portions of it with oil and were ready to apply the torch when they were discovered by a sentry who fired his gun.

The men ran along the railroad for a short distance and disappeared in the woods. A few minutes later a man was seen trying to set fire to the Cable residence not far away. He, too, was fired upon but escaped. There were two hundred soldiers scattered through the woods within a mile of the place, and they were quickly under arms. Bloodhounds were brought up from military headquarters and early they struck two trails, which are being followed through the densely wooded mountains.

These attempts at incendiarism are the most daring since the strike was inaugurated, following as they do closely on the destruction by fire of the tipple of the Carbon Coal company earlier in the week.

The troops were reinforced this morning by a company of infantry, bringing

CHICAGO POLICE FIND BANK LOOT

Part of $72,000 Stolen in Canadian Robbery is Recovered.

AMOUNT IS SECRET

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Part of the $72,000 loot robbers got from the Bank of Montreal at New Westminster, B. C., has been recovered by Chicago police according to an admission by Assistant Chief of Police Schuettler today. How much of the money was found he refused to say, but he intimated the amount would run into the thousands. It was said the money was in Canadian bills of large denomination.

"We are not ready to say anything except that some of the money was found," said Schenttler.

"The robbers are still at large but we haven't given up hope of arresting them in Chicago. We still believe they are in hiding here."

It is believed the loot of the Canadian bank robbery was hidden by two men who escaped after they had beaten a police lieutenant into unconsciousness when he attempted to arrest them single handed.

Walter Hamilton's Day Off

WALTER HAMILTON, inspector of motive power of the Pennsylvania, had been looking forward with much interest to the day he was to get off to go fishing with two other railroad men, and when last Saturday morning arrived he was ready. When Mr. Hamilton goes fishing he believes in making complete preparations, and so, togged out in his khaki costume, he was at the Pennsylvania depot in plenty of time to take the G. R. & I. train for Twin Lakes at 1 o'clock noon. He had with him a gun, several minnow buckets, some boxes of insect bait and a lunch box, in addition to his rods and his tackle box. He had in his pocket his pass which entitled him to ride on the Grand Rapids road, so when the other two gentlemen arrived and the train was ready to start off, Mr. Hamilton, with his arms and hands full of luggage, started to step aboard.

"Let's see yo' Pullman ticket," said the porter.

"Pullman ticket!" said Mr. Hamilton. "I haven't any Pullman ticket. Here's my pass over this line," and he produced it.

"Nobody can ride on dis yere train wifout a Pullman ticket," responded the porter, barring the passage.

"But—" protested Mr. Hamilton.

"All aboard!" called the conductor, waving the train forward.

And, with a look of bewilderment, Mr. Hamilton, with his traps, stood there and watched the train departing with his friends aboard.

After deliberating for some moments, he decided that the best thing to do was to wait and take the 4 o'clock train, which wasn't so particular about Pullman tickets. This he did. When he arrived at the lakes that evening he found his friends at the station ready to take the next train back. They had had their five hours' sport (the later train was a slower one than the first), and it was all out and over. They all came back together.

"We have often heard of the fish that got away," said Mr. Hamilton, in telling about it, "but this is the first time, perhaps, that you ever heard of the fisherman that didn't get away."

Mrs. Dorothy Auer Dies After Long Illness of Complications.

NATIVE OF GERMANY

Mrs. Dorothy Auer, the wife of Daniel Auer, died at 10:15 o'clock Thursday night at the family home, 1424 Wells street, at the age of eighty-two years, ten months and nineteen days. Death was due to complications.

Mrs. Auer was well-known in local German circles. She was born at Baden, Germany, August 24, 1830, and had been a resident of Fort Wayne for the past fifty-two years. She was married to Daniel Auer, July 5, 1860, the ceremony having been solemnized at St. Mary's Catholic church, with Rev. Father Witz officiating.

For many years the deceased was a member of St. Paul's Catholic church, but later became a member of the Precious Blood congregation when that parish was formed in Bloomingdale. Three children preceded the mother in death, and surviving besides the husband she leaves the following children: Frank Auer, of Kalamazoo, Mich., and George and Miss Sophia Auer, of this city. There are also three grandchildren.

Funeral services Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the residence, and at 9 o'clock from the Precious Blood church, Rev. Father Hummer officiating.

Friends are kindly requested to omit flowers.

PERRIN.

Mrs. Margaret E. Perrin, the widow of the late John Perrin, died at 9:30 o'clock this morning at the family residence, 217 Fourth street, at the age of 53 years, 8 months and 1 day. Death was due to complications and followed an illness of ten days. Mrs. Perrin had been in poor health since the death of her husband about one month ago.

The deceased was born in Marshall county, Indiana. She came to Fort Wayne forty-nine years ago and had resided here almost continuously since that time. She was widely known, and was loved by all her acquaintances. She was a faithful member of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, and was also a member of Deborah lodge No. 110, Daughters of Rebecca.

Surviving besides the aged mother, Mrs. Sarah Armocort, is one daughter, Maude, and one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Karrer, of Indianapolis. There are also two half-sisters, Mrs. Seline, of Oakland, Ind., and Mrs. Minnie Campbell, of Colton, Cal.

STRIKE ARMY GROWING.

Total of 6,200 Mine Workers Now Idle at Bingham, Utah.

Bingham, Utah, Sept. 20.—Sixty-two hundred men now compose the army of mine workers made idle by the strike in the mines here Wednesday and present indications are that this number will be increased unless a settlement of difficulties is brought about within the next few days. The situation today was practically the same as when the strike was called and there appears to be little prospect of an agreement between miners and operators soon. Forty-five hundred of the idle men are strikers. The remaining 1,700 were forced to leave their work when the concentrating mills at Garfield were compelled to close down last night for lack of ore. The Greeks and Cretans who until yesterday were fortified in trenches overlooking the mines have remained true to their promise to Gov. Spry to give up the stronghold but have not relaxed their vigilance on the mines. Pickets patroled the roads leading to the mines last night and early today several shots were exchanged with deputy sheriffs who attempted to cross the highways leading into the hills.

Many of the American miners and machinists who were in most part opposed to the strike have left the camp and are taking no part in the disturbances.

WHOOP! CATCH ONTO N'YORK'S NEWEST WALK.

Have you heard about the new walk of the swell girls in New York?

Well, here it is, in the above photographs, especially posed for The Sentinel.

Miss Millions alights from her motor car in a rocky-road-to-Dublin fashion; her chin and shoulders forward, her spine slanting backward in a pronounced curve and languidly enters the shops. The only time she straightens at all is when she wishes to snub the little shop girl who dares to smile at the picture she presents.

They call the new walk "the crouch of the ingenue," but nobody knows what ingenue.

Miss Fanny Brice, of the "Whirl of Society," posed for these pictures to show how the trick is done, and she volunteers the advice, "If you are fat, don't try it where anyone will see you, or you may get pinched."

who were formerly officers and directors of the trust but are now officers or directors of the former subsidiaries.

"Don't these men discuss their business there daily?"

"No."

"You hear them talking, don't you?"

"Yes, they talk in generalties; I hear them laughing and joking."

"How long have you been listening to the jokes and laughing?"

"Since last December."

This line of questioning met with vigorous objections by D. N. Kirby, the Standard's lawyer and Mr. Untermeyer made the following statement in reply for the record.

"The purpose of this questioning is to show the sham and humbug with which these people who have been segregated into these various companies, meet here daily for the transaction of their business just as they met every day in years gone by."

WICKERSHAM WATCHES IT.

But Rumored Contempt Proceedings Can Not Be Verified.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Reports that the government was about to start contempt of court proceedings against the Standard Oil company on the evidence gathered in the Waters-Pierce fight, found no verification at the department of justice today.

It is known, however, that Attorney General Wickersham has personally followed the details of the Waters-Pierce case to detect any violation of the supreme court's dissolution decision.

President Taft in his speech accepting the nomination of the Chicago republican convention referred to the Standard Oil company and to tobacco decrees and declared they appeared to be working well, but that the government had ample legal resources to compel their enforcement if violations should be detected. This was interpreted by many as an indication that the president and attorney general were giving close attention to the situation and is believed to be the basis of recent reports that proceedings were contemplated.

addition to this objection, it was said the course was soft and liable to slide or give way at the edges near sharp cuts or ditches at the roadside.

The course was so soft yesterday that the road experts found it impossible to spread the customary coating of oil.

The management of the meet expected an attendance of close to 35,000 today and larger crowds tomorrow and Monday.

The course was patrolled by several companies of Wisconsin militia and a large corps of special and city police. Special efforts were made by Captain William F. Mehl, of the militia, to keep the crowds at a safe distance.

A Three-Cornered Fight.

The opening ceremonies of the democrats today begins a forty-five-day campaign which promises to be unique because of the three-cornered fight.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts; R. B. Brown, the candidate for governor, and practically all of the candidates on the state ticket will start the republican machinery going with oratorical grease here tomorrow, while the progressives will be following a like course at Akron and Cleveland.

Mayor Frank Rockwell will preside at the opening meeting of the progressives at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Grace park in Akron.

Governor Hiram Johnson, of California, and Arthur L. Garford, candidate for governor, will be the principal speakers.

Following close upon the heels of the official openings, Congressman Cox and Mr. Garford will begin campaign tours of the state in which they will attempt to reach every county of importance.

Insisted on Sleep.

Somewhat fatigued from the strenuous campaigning of the last four days, Gov. Wilson took a long sleep today before entering into a busy program that was to open the democratic campaign in Ohio. He arrived at 8 o'clock but slept in his car until 10 o'clock.

The governor knocked the bottom out of previous plans and determined upon a twelve-hour sleep. After he had addressed a big gathering in Detroit last night, it had been intended to have him speak from his train at 7:20 a. m. at Toledo, but the governor smilingly protested. The schedule of the special train accordingly was altered and the governor passed through Toledo during the night. It is likely that he will visit the latter city on another occasion when he can stay longer. The day was to bring together Gov. Judson Harmon and the nominee for the first time since the presidential contest began.

"Irish" Causes Wedding Bells to Ring for Man and Maid.

New York, Sept. 20.—Dr. James J. Curtain, of 208 Alexander avenue, owns a green parrot who answers to the name of "Irish" and understands Gaelic. Some months ago "Irish" flew out of the window of the doctor's home and when the owner finally spied the bird on a shutter of a house at 198 Alexander avenue, he rushed through the house without an invitation and captured the parrot. Then he saw Miss Lulu Smith, who lived in the house with her mother. On Aug. 6 they were married at Louisville by an uncle of the doctor, and when they returned the other day they declared there would be nothing too good for "Irish."

WORTH A MILLION A YEAR.

Brewers Estimate Value of Scientific Farming in Each County.

Boston, Sept. 20.—A million dollars a year awaits the farmers of every grain-growing county in the United States in return for more scientific and business-like management of the farms, in the opinion of the crop improvement committee of the United States Brewers' association. The committee submitted a lengthy report today at the closing session of the association's 32nd annual convention.

The committee said that brewers are facing famine prices for raw material because of the increasing demand for malting barley and decreased production due to soil exhaustion and the withdrawal of land from cultivation.

REMINISCENCES OF GREAT BATTLE

Rev. C. Claude Travis Delivers Able Address to Old Soldiers.

VETERANS RESPOND

"The battle of Chickamauga was very much similar to the decisive battle of Waterloo, in the fact that the issues at stake were almost the same," said Rev. C. Claude Travis at the evening campfire session of the thirty-fourth annual reunion of the Forty-fourth regiment of Indiana Thursday night. Mr. Travis also dwelt on the terrible loss of human life in both battles and said that the men who fought in the great battle of Chickamauga are deserving of our deepest and most sincere respect.

At the conclusion of Rev. Travis' speech many of the veterans of the Forty-fourth told of their soul-stirring experiences during the progress of that stubbornly fought engagement. Some of those present carried scars of wounds received in the battle of Chickamauga.

The reunion yesterday was well attended and was an enthusiastic one. These veterans realize that they will not have the privilege of meeting their old comrades many more times in reunion, as the heavy hand of Time is fast thinning their ranks, and all who were physically able to be present attended the meeting here. Those who were too far away sent their earnest regrets that they could not meet their comrades of by-gone days. Mayor Grice and Charles S. Bash delivered the addresses in the afternoon session.

The morning was spent in registration and social meeting of old acquaintances. Many of the veterans remained in Fort Wayne over night and spent part of the morning here. The next meeting will be held in Fort Wayne and it is hoped that all those who attended the reunion yesterday will be back again next year.

CUTS VACATION SHORT.

President Taft Now Plans to Leave Beverly in October.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 20.—Plans for President Taft's vacation here were changed today and it became known that the president probably will remain in Beverly only until October 20. He had intended staying at Parranatta until a few days before election and then, closing up his summer home, travel to Cincinnati to vote. According to the new plan the president will leave Beverly with Mrs. Taft for Hot Springs, Va., late in October. He will vote in Cincinnati and return to Hot Springs for a long stay, probably remaining there until a few days before congress convenes in December. The president had only a few callers on the list today. Curtis E. Hatfield, republican state chairman of Massachusetts, and former Congressman J. V. V. Olcott, of New York, were two with whom the president expected to discuss politics.

dimmed by smoke from surrounding factories.

"I consented to go up only after officials had promised that my machine would be the only one in the air," Mestach testified. "They didn't keep their promise. Two biplanes continued to race, and instead of keeping close to the ground, where they were supposed to remain, they climbed. I was going at terrific speed when I saw one of them about 300 feet ahead of me. I tried to avoid a collision, but it was impossible."

The inquest was continued until September 25.

SWAINDNER MAKES RECORD ON POLL

During Canvass for County Committee He Polls 5,166 Voters.

MANY CANNOT VOTE

The largest poll of voters ever taken by one canvasser in the city of Fort Wayne, has just been completed by John Swaidner, who has been working for the democratic county central committee for the past five weeks. The young man spent about three weeks of actual working time in making his canvass, and polled a total of 5,166 voters. The largest number of voters polled prior to this time by any one man was 3,700 and was taken about twelve years ago.

Mr. Swaidner worked in different precincts about the city and reports that he kept account of 271 foreigners who have not registered and who will not be allowed to vote because they have neglected to take out naturalization papers. He says that most of the foreigners encountered by him while taking the poll, talk strongly for Roosevelt, but many will not get to vote for him because they refuse to become naturalized.

Some More Information.

Those in charge of registration wish it to be known by every voter, that every man who has registered prior to this time and has moved into another precinct, will have to register again in the precinct to which he moved. If a man registered either at the May or September periods, and has moved since that time, he will have to register again if he wishes to cast his vote in November.

HINTS AT STRIKE SPREAD.

President Moyer Says Other Miners May Be Called Out.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 20.—Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of miners, announced today the federation may call out the union men employed at the Nevada consolidated properties at Ely, Nev.; the Ray consolidated, at Kelton, Ariz., and the Chino, at Santa Ria, N. M., which are controlled by the Utah copper interests. About 4,000 more men would be affected.

"D. C. Jacklin, manager of the Utah Copper company's properties, refuses to recognize the union in Utah; we see no reason why union men in other states should work for him," said President Moyer. "The men have some pride and are unwilling to work where they are not wanted. In fact, the miners at the Nevada consolidated at Ely are ready to go out at a moment's notice.

TALKING WITH WITNESSES.

Formal Hearing at Hot Springs Will Begin Tomorrow.

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 20.—Examination in personal interviews of witnesses who will appear before a special commissioner here in the Sam Schepps phase of the Rosenthal murder case in New York, was continued today by John W. Hart, representing Police Lieutenant Becker.

District Attorney Whitman and his assistant expected to mark time today. The formal hearing probably will begin tomorrow and may be completed that night.

THINKS BUDGET WILL STAND.

Controller Cutshall Says He Thinks Elevation Levy Will Be Cut.

Controller Sherman Cutshall is of opinion that the budget submitted to the city council will stand and that it will go through at the meeting of the committee of the whole tonight with two cents taken off the track elevation levy and used to create a garbage plant fund.

He does not believe that it will be possible to get contractors to take the elevation work at Osage street or Walton avenue next year and that this will permit a two-cent reduction in the levy without crippling the other work.

WILL FILL VACANCIES.

Mix-Up in Pennsylvania Eelectors is Being Cleared Away.

Harrisburg, Sept. 20.—The Pennsylvania republican state committee this afternoon appointed a sub-committee to fill vacancies on the state electoral ticket and report back to the full committee Sept. 30. Under an agreement reached last week men on the ticket who favor Theodore Roosevelt for president are expected to withdraw and the vacancies filled with Taft men by the sub-committee. The Roosevelt electors are expected to go on the Washington party ticket.

MORE SUBPOENAS ISSUED.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Subpoenas were issued today for more employes of the International Harvester company who are to testify in the government's anti-trust suit against that corporation. The attorneys of the government declined to say for whom the papers were issued. The taking of testimony will be resumed this afternoon.

VIOLENCE ALL AT SUPERIOR.

Street Car Strike Situation Quiet at Duluth.

FEARS IT WOULD ADD TO DIVORCES

Cardinal Gibbons Tells Why He Opposes Women's Suffrage.

TALKS AT ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, Sept. 20.—Cardinal Gibbons, dean of the Catholic church in America, told 550 men at the City club luncheon that if a historian ever wrote "The Decline and Fall of the American Republic" it would not be due to an invading army, but to the criminal sloth, negligence and political apostasy of our own citizens. Before his address he said in an authorized interview:

"Equal suffrage, in my opinion, would tend toward increasing divorce, which is a social blot on the United tSates and is the greatest evil of the day.

"If woman had equal political rights with men there is a probability that on the slightest provocataion she would seek divorce. Given such equality, they might overstep the bounds. Women, under the present conditions, are too prone to go to the divorce courts, and political equality might make them more so. It might have the effect of turning their heads.

"Divorce is now too easy to get," the prelate continued. "If a husband leaves home for a couple of weeks and his wife wants freedom she is too likely to use his absence as a pretext. Nowadays, if a woman cannot get a divorce in her own state, she goes off to Nevada, where it is made easy.

"One of the worst features of the divorce evil is its bad effect upon children. When parents separate it means separation of children, of brothers and sisters. Children thus bereft of proper family influences are liable to go astray.

"Divorce is increasing in the United States. The evil prevails here more generally than in any other country. We must get back to the gospel. The laws should be made more strict, so that it would not be so easy to disrupt the marriage ties on flimsy pretexts."

ROACH READY TO PAY FOR DECREE

Says Wife of Few Months Made Life Miserable and They Quit.

AGREE ON ALIMONY

John Roach has entered suit in the superior court asking a divorce from Catherine Roach, to whom he was married April 28 of this year, and he alleges that an ante-nuptial agreement entered into between them failed to work.

He says that prior to their marriage his children had grown up and left home and that he was living alone and the couple agreed that each should manage his and her separate estate during their married life and that in event of his prior death she should receive $1,000 as her share of his estate.

The husband charges that soon after their marriage she refused to cook for him, became crabbed and disagreeable, wouldn't feed the farm hands, threatened a lawsuit and said she married him only to get a settlement out of him. The complaint sets out that the alimony has been agreed upon and that they can no longer live together. Gates & Whiteleather filed the suit.

Had a Narrow Escape.

Aggravated neglect of his children nearly got Charles Wybourn a trip to state's prison when his case was heard in the circuit court. He was sentenced to serve from one to seven years, but sentence was suspended on his promise to provide for his family.

This is the first case sent up from the city court where so many have been filed Judge Mungovan wanted to make a test of the law and now that he has found it in good working order he will probably send over all that come under his jurisdiction.

Divorce Case On Trial.

In the circuit court this afternoon the divorce suit of Bessie Batson against Winford Batson was placed on trial. She charges that he refused to provide for her, left her a year ago and went to Chicago and that when she went to see him she found him in the company of another woman. They were married in 1902.

WILL DIG DEEPER FOR BIG FOSSILS

"Death Trap of the Ages" Near Los Angeles Noted for Specimens.

MAMMOTHS FOUND

Los Angeles, Sept. 20.—Work on a thorough and deeper excavation of the famous La Brea asphaltum tar beds in a systematic search for the remains of animals and birds of the pilocene age has been commenced.

Prof. Reginald C. Stoner, a graduate of the University of California, has arrived at the Hollenbeck from Berkeley with the commission of bringing forth from this "death trap of the ages" the wonderful remnants of the tertiary period, which for thousands of years have lain on the outskirts of what is now the city of Los Angeles.

"There are few places discovered in any portion of the globe that have produced such perfect specimens of fossil organism as La Brea tar beds," said Prof. Stoner. "They may possibly reveal new features in the science of paleonthology and give us even more wonderful animals than the sabre tooth tiger and the mighty sloth, remains of which have been taken from the deposits with little effort.

"The fields have given to science the mastodon sloth. A recent discovery of the bones of this animal revealed a pelvic bone which measured three and a half feet across, indicating that the beast was more than twenty feet in length. Research has never been made at any great depth and the present expedition proposes to go as many feet as possible under the surface, all the time collecting the bones of the birds and animals which were mired in what was probably a lake of oil centuries ago."

Prof. Stoner paid a tribute to Mrs. Erskine M. Ross, formerly Mme. Ida Hancock, on whose property the deposits are located, for her generosity in allowing the university to make the present researches.

"We will do the work systematically and ten men will be employed. The fossils will be crated and shipped to Berkeley, where they will be cleaned, classified and mounted."

Prof. Stoner has many friends here, having been one of the leading spirits of the university in athletics.

CHILDREN PUZZLE PARENTS.

Father and Mother in Court Disagree on Number They Had.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 20.—The question whether a husband can demand the right to accompany his wife to the store and select her clothing is raised in the answer and cross-petition for divorce filed in insolvency court by Mrs. Minnie Kimball. Suit was filed several days ago by her husband, Hugo Kimball, proprietor of a saloon and restaurant. The wife first corrects her husband's statement as to the number of their children. He alleged they had two, one of which has since died. She claims they had three, two of which are dead. The wife gives the dates of births. She denies all the charges brought against her and alleges that her husband has treated her cruelly. He has a "habit of recklessly discharging firearms in the house," she alleges, and at one time shot a hole in the floor near where she was sitting. She said she was compelled to tend bar at times. She asks that her husband's suit be dismissed and that she beg iven the divorce, alimony and the custody of their minor child. S. B. Hommel is attorney for the wife.

ONION CROP BREAKS RECORD.

Ohio Marsh Yields 1,400,000 Bushels, Worth $560,000.

Kenyon, Ohio, Sept. 20.—The onion crop on the Hardin county Scioto marsh this year breaks all records. It will total 1,400,000 bushels and would fill a train twenty miles long, according to dealers here who have just completed a canvass of the marsh. The crop covers 1,000 more acres this year than were planted last season. The price this season is not so high, the average being 40 cents per bushel. The estimated value of the crop this season is $560,000. Red onions led all others this year. Yellow rank second and whites take last place. The onions average this season 350 bushels to the acre. The storage capacity on the marsh is about 700,000 bushels so about half of the crop will have to be shipped at once. It is estimated that 1,400 cars will be shipped as soon as the crop is harvested.

MODERN WOMEN'S FEET ARE LARGER

Athletics and Outdoor Life the Cause, Say Buyers of Stockings.

CORSET BIGGER, TOO

Boston, Sept. 20.—Outdoor sports and athletic exercises have so developed the American women of today that she has bigger legs and feet than her mothers and her aunts, according to the American Wool and Cotton reporter of this city, the official organ of the textile industries of the country.

As convincing proof of the truth of its assertion, the trade paper avers that the big hosiery mills in New England have given orders for the construction for new looms for the production of hose in sizes larger than have ever been placed on the counters for milady's inspection, criticism and final purchase.

The new looms, the paper assets, are the result of quite but urgent "tips" given to the textile mill officials by the hosiery buyers.

"It is these buyers, too," adds the paper, "who, of all others, have the best opportunity of noting the rapid and marvellous progress being made of late years toward the development of the real ideal figure. This is the natural result of our women resorting to every outdoor sport and athletic exercise which were for so long enjoyed only by the other sex.

Corset manufacturers, it is said, have been similarly "tipped off" by the buyers in their line.

A German chemist at Hanover has succeeded in making hard coal out of the elements of which the coal in mines was formed. His estimate is that it took eight million years for this coal to assume its present condition.

"ALBERTA" IS NOT A LADY,

But New Head of Domestic Science Bureau Has Idea on Cooks.

Washington, Sept. 20.—"Alberta" Baldwin is not a lady at all. "Alberta" has golden hair and blue eyes, but there the attributes of femininity end. The ensemble is spoiled by a drooping mustache. Because of a misprint which gave official notice of the appointment of Alberta H. Baldwin to the bureau of domestic science, Albertus H. Baldwin, good looking and masculine, the new head of the bureau of domestic and foreign commerce, was interviewed by a score of women writers to tell what he knew about domestic science. "The way to keep a cook is to tie her down," he said. "That's all I know about domestic science."

Running up and down stairs, sweeping and bending over making beds will not make a woman healthy or beautiful. She must get out of doors, walk a mile or two every day and take Chamberlain's Tablets to improve her digestion and regulate her bowels. For sale by all dealers.

MAY EXTEND FREE DELIVERY.

Hitchcock Plans Limited Service in Second and Third-Class Offices.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Postmaster General Hitchcock is preparing to establish a limited free delivery service at postoffices of the second and third class. The experiments will effect deliveries to nearly 30,000,000 people now obliged to call at the local postoffices for their mail. An appropriation of $100,000 was made by congress for experimental free delivery in small communities, the amount to be expended at any one office not to exceed $1,800 a year. Delivery by carrier is confined now to cities having a population of 10,000 or more, or annual postal receipts of at least $10,000.

Might as Well Be Good.

Practically the entire country has been watching with exceptional interest the battle which Miss Virginia Brooks has been waging against vice and municipal rottenness in the Chicago suburb of West Hammond, and practically the entire country is able to see what only the ringleaders in the West Hammond "system" have failed to observe. And that is the ultimate triumph of Miss Brooks in her crusade for decency.

The Cook county Joan of Arc has, of course, been the recipient of many threats against her life and her property since she began her remarkable crusade more than two years ago. Now that the medium of the mails has been utilized in the transmission of these threats and the postoffice department has taken a hand in the situation, the vice crowd will find another powerful ally behind Miss Brooks in the person of the federal government. Uncle Sam perhaps isn't especially concerned regarding the moral status of affairs in West Hammond, but the misuse of the mails is a matter he will not tolerate, and it is said the authors of the later threats against the young crusader are as good as in custody as this is written.

The world loves a good fighter, and Miss Brooks has demonstrated her claim to recognition of that character. There isn't any sort of doubt but that she has that unsavory West Hammond element in full retreat, and that ultimately she will have the consciousness of realizing that she has not only won a signal victory but that she has performed a splendid service for society as well. The disreputables at West Hammond are already whipped. They might as well accept the inevitable and prepare to be good.

Down at Hartford City a few days ago an aviator narrowly escaped mob violence because he failed to make a flight in his airship as the crowd expected him to do. He insisted, moreover, that the gentlemen who comprised the mob had been misled, and that under his contract he could only be expected to give a "demonstration." There was no flight, and Hartford City folk still cling to a suspicion that they were hoodwinked in the transaction somehow. Yet it cannot be denied that the ingenious airman gave a "demonstration" at least. He demonstrated a new way to get the money without endangering his neck by a fall from the clouds, and he probably figured that the mob spirit was less of a menace than the attempt to negotiate the heights of air.

With the campaign orators gathering breath for the closing weeks of appeal to the voter, party leaders marshalling the organizations into close fighting order and a general forward movement ordered from each of the political camps, the voter may either prepare for a period of whirlwind campaign activity or he may take to the woods until election day. And while the greater part of the spectacular demonstration will be in behalf of national and state candidates, it will be well not to lose sight of the local aspirants for place. Here in Allen county the democratic party is offering a ticket of exceptionally high grade and it is certain to receive a handsome endorsement at the polls in November.

Twelfth district republicans are writing to Indianapolis to assure the political center of the state that up this way the Roosevelt sentiment among republicans is dying out so rapidly that its last expiring gasp may be expected at any moment. Which same opinion may be either the product of the prize grade of optimism or merely intended as a joke.

We are being regaled with so many varieties of politics nowadays that it begins to resemble a rivalry to the numerical achievements of a certain eminent producer of pickles and such.

AMERICAN MEAT HERE AND IN LONDON.

If you have some slight doubt as to whether protection increases the cost of your living or not, try to explain this:

During the month of August, American sirloin of beef sold for 19½ cents in London and for 28 cents in New York.

None of the rot about middlemen, increase in gold production, great rise in wages and similar insincere twaddle explains this difference in price. The only explanation that holds water is the tariff.

Great Britain levies no tariff duties on meat products. In the London market the American beef trust must meet competition from Australia, New Zealand and South America. The tariff protects the trust from such competition at home. With the tariff abolished American meats would sell at home for no more than abroad.

Of course, when these facts are made known the shriek goes up that the trust cannot pay decent wages without the privilege of robbing the people.

But this shriek is the biggest lie in all the tariff arguments.

The census shows that the average wage paid in the packing industry is $570 a year, a trifle over $10 a week. How high a tariff is needed to enable the trust to pay such wages? All told, there were 69,728 wage-earners employed in the year 1909 in the packing industry, less than one-tenth of one per cent. of the population.

If, once a year, a tax of about 60 cents a head were levied on the meat consumers of the United States, that tax would raise a sum equal to the total wages paid by the beef trust. Yet the tariff enables the trust to tax meat consumers more than that every week in the year.

WILL THE VOTERS VOTE RIGHT?

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Citizens of New Orleans by a large majority have just voted for the commission form of municipal government for the possible purpose of getting rid of corruption and extravagance from which the Crescent City has suffered for long years. Now the newspapers of that town and the people who voted for the commission plan seem to be suffering some agony of doubt whether a similar majority will vote for the proper men for mayor and commissioners to make good the scheme of reform.

It would seem to be almost criminally illogical for a majority which voted for such a gentle revolution to stultify itself by electing a mayor and commissioners who would vitiate the whole proposition; but that seems to be a fear of the reformers. In this connection it is quoted by the New Orleans Times-Democrat that in Atlantic City, N. J., where many of former municipal officials are in jail or under indictment for graft, the initiation of the commission form of administration resulted in the election of the former element. All of those who wish New Orleans good speed in its progressive movement will hope for better things for that city of beautiful creoles and mardi gras.

As a word of encouragement Pittsburg may say to New Orleans that, while it is not precisely the commission plan that obtains in this city, the old system of ward councilmen was abolished by act of legislature and nine men, selected primarily by the governor as being eminently fitted for administration, were subsequently elected by a great majority by the people of the entire city. When this was so finely accomplished in Pittsburg let the sister city of New Orleans take heart of grace.

LITTLE TIME FOR POLITICS.

(New York Herald.)

Two nominees for the presidency are now in the west. Governor Wilson is discussing the tariff in Iowa and adjacent states, and the third term candidate is everywhere mostly at once making a noise like a grievance.

But the political movement in which the west is most interested at this time is the movement of grain, which has broken all records for the first week. If one is to believe all the stories that have been told at political conventions the west is ripe for any political deviltry, because it feels that it has been badly treated, cheated out of a few birthrights and generally deprived of the things that it needed for its pursuit of happiness.

Thus, the great issues of the third termer are that he shall have a third term, that working girls shall not work any harder than their mistresses, that laboring men shall not work longer than eight hours, that judicial decisions shall be overturned if a majority of the clients do not like them, and that the constitution shall be liquefied so that it shall run at will like molasses in summer.

Gov. Wilson is likely to be listened to with much more patience because he stands on sane ground, supporting the constitution, insisting that tariffs and trusts shall come under remedial legislation, but without upsetting business, and that there shall be a divorce between business and political committees. His tour is bound to improve his already flourishing candidacy.

CLEANER MONEY.

(New York World.)

Asistant Secretary of the Treasury Bailey's campaign for a cleaner currency is already producing satisfactory results. By January 1 next, money-washing machines will be in operation at the Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and New Orleans sub-treasuries, with the possibility that machines will be installed in banks and department stores in the larger cities.

This is a reform of real merit. It is not merely that the cleaner treasury and bank notes will gratify the aesthetic sense. They will obviate the possibility of contagion which is ever present in germ-laden bills. Some of the paper money in circulation even in New York is distinctly filthy and tainted, in the worst meaning of the word.

Doubtless laundering soiled money is the best substitute our plan of circulation affords for the English system of fresh issues. But it is gratifying that a cleaner currency is at last in prospect. Considering the public vigilance against disease dissemination in other ways, we have been decidedly dilatory in dealing with the menace of a currency peculiarly adapted to convey infection.

For the Thin and Scrawny

Samose Will Make You Plump and Rosy, Says Meyer Bros. Co.

If you are getting thin you are sick, although you may not know it. If you are losing weight steadily, there is something wrong that needs looking after. If you have always been thin it doesn't follow that you are sick, but you may not be healthy. You cannot be strong if you are thin.

Try then to be healthy and plump, it is not difficult if you know how.

The only way to increase the weight and gain health and flesh is by using Samose, the standard flesh-forming food and tissue builder. It mingles with the food you eat and is assimilated so that all the flesh-forming and tissue building elements of the food are retained in the system. This explains the great value of Samose.

Weigh yourself before you begin using Samose. It will not cost you a cent unless it increases your weight and restores your health.

Meyer Bros. Co. sells every package on a genuine guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

TO MAP OUT PLAN FOR COUNTY WORK

Republicans to Hold Organization Meeting Tonight at Headquarters.

GET BUSY NEXT WEEK

On account of the big meeting of republican workers in Allen county, to be held this evening at headquarters on Harrison street, local republicans were unable to go to Kendallville today to hear the address delivered there this afternoon by Winfield T. Durbin, republican candidate for governor of Indiana. District Chairman Vesey had planned to meet Mr. Durbin, but he also was unable to leave the city.

E. J. Mack, an official campaign organizer, will attend the meeting here tonight and will attempt to map out a plan to be followed by candidates, committeemen and other workers for the good of the G. O. P. The meeting will be for workers only, and the general public will be barred. Vice Chairman George H. Loesch will preside and among others who will speak will be District Chairman Vesey.

Secretary B. W. Skelton, of the republican central committee, declares that nearly all the men have been selected to fill vacancies existing in the committee on account of a number of resignations. It is expected that these vacancies will be filled this evening. Former County Chairman A. E. Houk attempted to fill a number of places made vacant when the committeemen flocked to the bull moose party, but succeeded in landing only one man at that time. Mr. Skelton and other party leaders have been going about the county, in townships and precincts without regular committeemen, and they now say that no difficulty will be experienced in completing the list.

It is hoped to take up the work of township organizations early next week and the republicans will also make more of an effort to secure the registration of voters at the October period. At the last registration the party affairs were all up-side-down and no serious work was done at that time to get voters to the polls. It was conceded that the democrats were way in the lead in registration. A united effort will be made now on, however, to secure a complete registration.

TRAINS HIS FIRE ON INDIANA MEN

Gov. Johnson in Blistering Attack on Taggart and Kealing.

NEED A PRIMARY LAW

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 20.—In a heated attack on Thomas Taggart and Joseph B. Kealing here last night, Governor Johnson accused them of being the leaders of a "republican-democratic boss alliance," and predicted their political downfall with the adoption of a direct primary election law in Indiana.

"The state is ripe for revolt against the outrageous republican-democartic boss alliance," declared the governor, vehemently. The two leaders and their lieutenants were referred to by the governor as "they and those of pretended respectability who make them possible."

The broadside against Taggart and Kealing was fired in Tomlinson hall at a meeting which closed the governor's first day of campaigning in Indiana. He visited fourteen towns and cities on a "V" shaped tour that began at Terre Haute, went southeast to Evansville and ended here. Again the governor was forced to battle with a delayed train, but his crowds were patient and waited for him.

"I have been very much interested in observing the people of Indiana and the extraordinary crowds today have accorded me the fullest opportunity," he said. "My interest was enhanced because I thought I saw politically a repetition of what we had in California prior to 1910—a crooked bipartisan boss system.

"The citizenship of Indiana is of a type as high as any I have ever seen. The state is ripe for revolt against the outrageous republican-democratic boss alliance. It was manifest today in every one of the great meetings held. Just one thing Indiana needs—a direct primary.

"The first direct primary will see all these crooked bosses eliminated and the state one of the freest and most progressive of our commonwealths. The reflection was ever present with me today of the utter incongruity of this splendid citizenship permitting Taggart on the one hand in partnership with Kealing on the other annexinig and appropriating unto themselves the government of such a great state.

"It requires no prophetic eye to discern that the end of these bosses is near at hand and afterwards they and those of pretended respectability who make them possible will be the most insignificant creatures in all the state."

Cities visited during the day were Sullivan, Vincennes, Princeton, Evansville, Oakland City, Petersburg, Shoals, Washington, Mitchell, Bedford, Bloomington, Gosport and Martinsville. The last four cities were not reached until after dark, but they turned out the biggest crowds of the entire tour. At Martinsville the crowd was especially large and a terrific din was raised when the governor appeared and said a few words from the rear platform of his train.

The governor found again today that too many engagements had been made for him to keep, both on account of his weakened voice and the impossibility of the train crew to travel on schedule time. It was necessary to cut half a dozen speeches short.

Owing to a conflict in his schedule Governor Johnson cancelled his remaining Indiana engagements, which he was to fill today. He took an afternoon train from here to Cincinnati, where he speaks tonight.

WARDEN FEARED DYNAMITE PLOT

Inquiry Shows Why Militia Was Summoned to Jackson Prison.

THREAT IN LETTERS

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 20.—That Warden Simpson and the board of control called out the militia because they were afraid the inmates who had broken out of the bull pen during the riot would dynamite the place, was disclosed before the military court of inquiry yesterday.

The warden was called to the witness stand to testify to the conditions that existed at the prison at the time the troops were called on. The warden said he had received tips from reliable men on the outside, who had been inmates of the institution, that there was a plot to smuggle explosives into the prison for the purpose of blowing it up.

He said that after he locked the men up, feeding them on bread and water and subsequently flogging some of them for having broken out of the bull pen and committing other violations of the rules, he received numerous threatening letters.

Threatens to "Get" Warden.

At the request of the court he read one of these letters, which was sent him from Kansas City, Kan. It reads:

"To the governor of Michigan and the warden of its state penitentiary: The Russians must take second place. You two devils have gone the limit. There is not a prisoner in the pen but is a thousand times better than you curs. Secure where they cannot touch you, you cowardly pups can thrash those helpless men; whose crime was a lack of proper food.

"I know all about you and your torture pen, and you, warden. I know you well. You don't need to fear them inside, but how about us fellows who have suffered at your damn hands, who are now free?

"We will get you yet, mind that. As for you, Mr. Warden, a maxim silencer on a dark night can do the trick for you and it will be done—perhaps not this month or next, but just as sure as there is a God above, we will get you. Don't think, you dirty devil, you can commit such crimes and get away with it. There is no man in the prison not better than you or your damned governor, and you both will be in hell inside of six months, where you belong."

The letter is not signed. It was explained before the court that a maxim silencer is an apparatus that fits over the muzzle of a rifle or revolver to deaden the sound of a shot.

Victim Shot in the Back.

The work of the court of inquiry was finished today. The evidence shows that there were three shots fired at Eisy, the man who was killed, two of them being fired by Capt. Blackman and one by Private Jackson. From the positions occupied by Blackman and Jackson, it is clear that the two shots that took effect entered the body in the back and must have been fired by Blackman, for Jackson stood facing Eisy, he says, when Eisy raised the rifle in club fashion and when Jackson fired.

BICYCLE TIRE SAVES AVIATOR

Semeniouk Meets Accident in Lake Michigan Off Chicago.

WAS BADLY SCALDED

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Ignace Semeniouk, the Russian aviator, whose flying career has been one smashup after another, came near losing his life from a scalding he incurred last evening when a hydroaeroplane he had been driving careened sideways into the lake off Grant park. The boiling water from a smashed radiator squirted over his body.

Semeniouk, sustained in the water by an inflated bicycle tire, was picked up two miles off shore half unconscious from pain by a motor boat commanded by Max Primber, chief of the drainage police. The sunken airboat later was recovered by the lighthouse tender Cuma.

Anxious to make a good appearance before the crowd, the Russian, when lifted ashore, walked smilingly to the emergency hospital tent, although he winced when touched on his blistered shoulders by solicitous friends.

Scalded From Neck Down.

Dr. George C. Hunt, city physician, who attended Semeniouk for an hour and a half, declared the aviator was scalded from his neck down.

"He probably will live," said the physician. "It will be many days before he will recover, however."

What made the accident more thrilling was the fact that the crowd knew Semeniouk probably would have a mishap, as he unconsciously had splintered his propeller against the high waves on starting out. His racing engine was driving only a stump blade. The lake was strewn with splinters from the propeller.

Officials, attendants at the temporary starting wharf, and many in the crowd shouted a warning to the Russian as soon as it was realized that he was unaware of his danger. His pontoon was seen to be sinking slightly.

"Come back. Your propeller's broken," they shouted and megaphoned.

But the engine in the defective machine was especially noisy. The aviator could not hear. He swept on out through the gap, followed leisurely by a motor boat marked "official," that had been converted into an excursion craft for two women. The pilot of the boat not only did not endeavor to head off Semeniouk but made no effort to go to his rescue when the hydroaeroplane edged sideways, then disappeared in the water, the front of the pontoon sinking last.

As the plane tilted the engine became submerged and stopped. The radiator water circulating through the cylinders had been heated to a boiling degree because the motor worked abnormally fast, having only the stump propeller to spin.

Before Semeniouk could change his position the hot, stopped engine had forced the cap from the radiator, the sizzling water spouting over the aviator's back as he sat in his seat. The steam from the water could be detected from shore.

Semeniouk climbed to the upper plane of the airboat, working himself more and more toward the high end as the craft sank edgeways. Just before the drainage boat rescued him he leaped into the water. He was limp when lifted aboard.

Aviator Dances in Agony.

Once in the boat, the aviator was seen to dance in agony. Then he lay down exhausted. When within a hundred feet of shore he must have realized he was coming before the crowd as he sat up in the boat. He was lifted ashore. Then he covered his scalded neck with his hand and was escorted to the hospital. About 6:30 o'clock the police ambulance took him gently across the field to a room in the Auditorium hotel.

Dr. Miles F. Porter, St., was elected president of the American Association of Obstetricians at the convention at Toledo yesterday. The next convention place will be Providence, R. I.

BIG SCHOOL AS BOOTH MEMORIAL

Salvation Army Planning a Training Place for Social Workers.

WILL COST $250,000

New York, Sept. 20.—As an American memorial to Gen. William Booth the Salvation Army proposes to raise $250,000 and build a great training school for social workers in New York. Commander Eva Booth, who has just returned from her father's funeral in England, reports that already $22,000 has been raised.

In the Salvation Army headquarters at No. 120 West Fourteenth street a training school is maintained for the education of the army's future officers in religious and social service, but the facilities are entirely inadequate.

Commander Booth has issued this statement to officers of the army:

"For the past two years the great project that has burdened my mind and heart has been the securing of a suitable and adequate property for a central training college for increasing our facilities for the training of officers. It is now impressed upon me that no more fitting memorial in the United States could be lifted to the life of the Salvation Army founder.

"It was among the strongest and greatest ambitions of the latter years of my father's life that a more complete training college should be established in New York. The students for this institution would come from all classes of society and would be instructed, as well as by lecture and class, by the world's best teacher—practical experience; that is, by coming into daily conflict with the sorrows and sins of the unfortunate and by daily practice of the army's successful methods in relieving them."

Miss Booth made public a cable message from Gen. Bramwell Booth approving the memorial plan.

HONEYMOONERS LOSE PETS.

Special Car of Canines Sidetracked Between Chicago and New York.

New York, Sept. 20.—When Mr. and Mrs. Malcom D. Whitman, the only bridal couple on record who ever carried $50,000 worth of pet dogs with them on a honeymoon journey, arrived in this city from San Francisco, the dogs were missing.

The fifty animals, attended by three valets in a special car, reached Chicago safely, but somewhere between the city we call "Windy" and the city they call "Gotham" the little dears had been lost or sidetracked.

Mr. Whitman, at the Plaza, did not seem to be in utter despair. It has been reported that when the animal car was delayed en route to Chicago from the coast, he exclaimed: "Hang the confounded beasts," or words to that effect. Nevertheless, he added quickly: "If my wife wants them, she's got a right to have as many as she likes."

Mr. Whitman married Miss Jennie Crocker, $100,000,000 heiress, in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. William Morris, of Louisville, Ky., will return home tomorrow after a three weeks' visit with Mrs. Morris' mother, who lives in Elizabeth street. A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Morris during their stay here.

MURMER NOT IN THE CITY COURT

CITY COURT DOCKET

A fellow arrested during the fair on a charge of loitering and who gave the name of James Murmer, did not appear in the city court today to answer a charge of loitering filed against him, although he had $200 in the hands of the city clerk to guarantee that he would be on hand when he was called.

His case was continued until tomorrow morning to give him a chance to enter his appearance, but it is believed he has left the city. There is nothing against him but the charge of loitering, although at the time of his arrest the police were looking for pickpockets.

The Other Cases.

William Carson was fined $1. Jim Malone and Pat Tyman $5 each. Mat Bradbury $3 and Abe Miller $1 on charges of public intoxication.

Charles Smith, plain drunk, was allowed to go and the case against J. S. Rhodes was continued until tomorrow.

If It's a Good Thing Seavey's Have It

The upper view shows how groups of big stumps are blasted out clean at one time, with all dirt off the roots and stumps shattered into kindling wood. At the same time the subsoil is thoroughly broken up, creating a fine home for the new crop. Lower view shows a celery crop worth $800 per acre ten months after stumps were blasted out.

FROM ODDS AND ENDS THIS HAT FOR BROWN-EYES WAS MADE.

Prettily dressed children constitute half the brightness of almost any scene in which humanity plays a part. So children's fashions have grown to be a business, too.

As much thought may be expended in the attire of the little maid as the debutante, with equally as attractive results; the chief difference being that it is possible to make all sorts of becoming apparel for a 4-year-old with the odds and ends which so often find their way to the scrap bag.

One of the best ways of using up pieces is upon the small lady's seperate hat. A silk elastic, passing under the chin, prevents the chapeau shown on the head of this pretty owner from blowing off.

The sharply pointed crown, covered smoothly with brown velvet, supports a long looped brown satin ribbon bow, and the brim of shirred velvet is partially covered with a fluffy band of white and brown marabout.

"FI-FI OF THE TOY SHOP."

Spectacular Musical Fantasy to Be Given for Benefit Day Nursery.

Just what "Fi-Fi of the Toy Shop" is, is not wholly understood any more than the purpose of having it produced in this city for the starting of a day nursery is appreciated by people who have some one to care for their small children or who do not need to leave home to earn something to help their families along. "Fi-Fi" has been produced all over the country, west and south and in the middle west. It is an entertainment something like Peter Pan, or Little Nemo or The Bluebird. It is given by adults though a few children take part in ensemble work, particularly in the dancing. There is tuneful music, many spectacular features and character roles that are clever. There is a plot that is funny. The staging promises to be as pretty as it is unique. John B. Rogers, of Fostoria, O., has charge of the production and he is assisted in his work of preparation. Everywhere Fi-Fi has been given heretofore the demand for seats has been greater than the supply. The entertainment is as well liked by adults as by children and the latter are "crazy" about it. It wil be given at the Majestic theater on October 1 and 2.

TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM.

Old Play Begins Three Days' Engagement at Majestic.

It has been years since the famous old play, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," was presented with a capable cast with modern scenery, but the revival of the drama opened last evening at the Majestice and will draw larger and larger audiences during the rest of the week, mainly because it is interesting and well presented. It makes little difference about the name of a play or its object. If there is something that holds attention and thrills an audience people will go to see it, whether old-fashioned or a modern "thriller" of western cowboy life.

Ten Nights in a Bar Room tells a pleasing story. It has nothing in it that is too sensational or melodramatic and each of its scenes is presented in a manner that is attractive. As for the moral, it is rather an object lesson, but whether one looks for that or not, the play is good and holds its former fascination for an audience. There will be a matinee tomorrow.

TELLS OF $10,000 PLOT TO RUIN.

Detroit Defendant Says, Chicagoan Warned of Attack on Aldermen.

Detroit, Sept. 20.—Testifying for the prosecution yesterday at the hearing in the case of himself and seventeen aldermen, charged with conspiracy to defraud the city, Edward R. Schreiter, former councilmanic clerk, asserted that July 9 he received a mysterious letter from Chicago in which the writer declared a $10,000 fund had been raised in an effort to ruin him and members of the council politically and financially. He had destroyed the letter.

Schreiter testified the letter was signed "a friend," and that it specifically mentioned himself and Thomas Glinnan, president of the council, and hinted by that other aldermen were in danger of being the victims of a so-called political plot. Both Schreiter and Glinnan are among the eighteen city officials alleged to have been implicated in a plot to demand several thousand dollars from the Wabash railroad in return for municipal favors.

NO APPLICANTS APPEAR.

Government Examiner Says Uncle Sam Needs Stenographers.

In spite of the fact that two young men had signified their intention of taking the special examination for places as stenographers in the government service, which was to have been conducted today by Examiner I. L. Earhart, of Cincinnati, neither of the applicants appeared at the federal building.

Mr. Earhart declares that it is a hard task for Uncle Sam to employ competent stenographers.

"We need any number of good typists and stenographers," he said this morning." We want young men and they will be paid good salaries. There has been a vacancy in the Fort Wayne office for some time, and all efforts to employ a man have been without results."

FIXES FIRE PREVENTION DAY.

Governor Issues Proclamation Setting Aside Oct. 9.

Indianapolis, Sept. 20.—A proclamation was issued yesterday by Governor Marshall proclaiming Oct. 9 as Fire Prevention day. The proclamation was issued at the request of Indianapolis men and others who are interested in fire prevention. The same date was designated for the purpose last year. The proclamation asks that the day be observed throughout the state, and urges the public to remove all rubbish and other waste that might cause fires.

AT THE TEMPLE

There is a classy show at the Temple this week, classier even than usual. Thos. Q. Seabrook, the comic opera star, is the headliner, and as a counter attraction there is Chas. Loder, another comic opera star who was featured here in "The Prince of Pilsen" and is presenting "The Night Doctor." There is a wonderful transformation scene to close the bill. These three alone are worth a visit to the Temple, and the remainder of the bill is equally as good.

Next week's headliner will be a big one-act musical comedy with a star cast and a peerless beauty chorus presenting "Whose Little Girl Are You?"

MAY NEVER AGAIN APPEAR ON STAGE

Nat C. Goodwin's Career as Actor is Probably at an End.

HIS HEALTH FAILS

New York, Sept. 20.—It is almost certain that Nat C. Goodwin, comedian, never again will appear on the stage to play a part.

A letter received here today by his friend, John Ernest Warren, secretary of the American Dramatists' association, brought the news from California that the actor is paralyzed in his lower limbs.

Mr. Warren recently visited Goodwin at his home, near Los Angeles, on business connected with the publishing of Goodwin's "Memoirs," which the actor is editing for publication this winter.

Tired of Season's Work.

Mr. Warren says that on departing from California a few days before Goodwin met with his accident, the actor was in fairly good health, although tired after his work during his last season here.

The letter received by Mr. Warren explained that the stories of Goodwin's mishap which were published have been misleading and that facts of his accident and his condition have been inaccurately given.

The facts as detailed by the California friends of the actor are that Goodwin is suffering from a fracture of the pelvic bone, which was not discovered for a long time after he was thrown out of the boat and received his injuries.

Grows Morbid and Morose.

Since the accident the actor's friends have feared a breaking up of his mental powers. He is said to have become morbid and morose, due to his fear that he never will be able to walk again or appear on the stage.

It has been thought best, however, by the surgeons and those in attendance on him not to inform him of the discovery of that fact.

Miss Moreland, the actor's secretary, and a corps of trained nurses are in constant attendance on him and are doing all in their power to cheer him up. He is just able to drawn himself up by his arms in bed and use them to change his position, but is unable to use his legs or feet.

Last Public Engagement.

His last engagement here was in the role of Fagin in "Oliver Twist," and he was to have opened in the same role in San Francisco three weeks ago, supported by the Belasco stock company.

During the coming season Goodwin was to have appeared in New York under the management of Oliver Morosco in the first production of Lee Arthur's play, "The Fox," in which he was to have played the title role, or in Hartley Manners' "Gauntlett's Pride."

Valeska Suratt, Beautiful Queen of Musical Comedy, Comes to Fort Wayne Soon.

VALESKA SURATT.

Valeska Suratt, the beautiful queen of musical comedy whom the Messrs. Shubert will present in Fort Wayne shortly in an elaborate production of the Viennese operetta, "The Kiss Waltz," is credited by many of New York's ablest critics with being the most beautiful woman on the American stage. Miss Suratt is of the critical type of beauty. She is tall and slender. Her complexion is soft olive pink. Her hair is as dark and soft and glossy as that of an olive skin Indian princess, and her teeth are as white as milk and as even as a row of royal pearls. Miss Suratt has been the star feature of many theatrical enterprises, and in every instance her beauty of face and form has been celebrated in song and story. The Messrs. Shubert have given her every advantage in the new production—a fine supporting company of New York favorites, a chorus of Broadway beauties, the richest gownings and a scenic display that is said to rival in elaborateness anything ever attempted by this most enterprising firm. "The Kiss Waltz" is brimful of wholesome melody, and has to its credit a record season at the New York Casino. C. M. Ziehrer, who composed "Mlle. Mischief" for Fritzi Scheff, is the composer of "The Kiss Waltz." Edgar Smith wrote the story of the operetta, and Matthew Woodward composed most of the lyrical numbers.

FAVORS RECALL OF PRESIDENTS

Colonel Roosevelt Would Go the Limit in Applying Principle.

COMES OUT SQUARELY

Denver, Col., Sept. 20.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt came out squarely last night in a speech to 15,000 people in the auditorium here in favor of the "recall of presidents" when found inefficient or for misconduct in office.

It was a declaration made in reply to one of five questions propounded by William Jennings Bryan, who has been campaigning in this state during the last five days in behalf of the candidacy of Gov. Woodrow Wilson.

The boldness and novelty of the proposition advanced by the colonel were such as to make the great audience gasp, and then it testified its approval by thunders of applause.

Roosevelt Statement on Recall.

The colonel's statement was as follows:

As far as I am concerned I should be glad to have the recall of the president. It is not in the progressive platform, and this is merely an expression of my personal feeling. My own experience was that I could do nothing as president except when the people were heartily with me. The minute I ceased to have them with me, whether it was my fault or theirs, I ceased to have power.

Under such conditions I would prefer to leave the presidency, unless in fair, open fighting or the stump, I could bring the people around to my way of thinking; such a course I think would be to my advantage and to theirs.

Warm Replies for Opponents.

This was not the only sensational development of the day. The colonel was busy from the time of his arrival in the state until his departure last night for Nebraska hurling verbal bombshells into the ranks of his enemies.

Besides expressing in no uncertain language his opinion of Bryan, the colonel made answer to Gov. Wilson's Minneapolis address. He charged the democratic nominee with making "inaccurate statements of facts" in connection with the plank in the progressive platform proposing federal regulation of corporations; asserted the steel and harvester trusts were supporting indifferently Mr. Taft and Mr. Wilson, instead of himself; declared neither Taft nor Wilson had a trust remedy, and again assailed Wilson for his school room theory that "the history of liberty is a record of the limitations of government."

Hits Guggenheim Interests.

The colonel condemned Senator Guggenheim and the Guggenheim allied interests for their debauchery of politics; denounced the bosses, republican and democratic, who served those interests to the injury of the public, and insisted that the only real remedy for the evils from which the people are suffering is the support of the progressive party, national and state, in the November elections.

NEED NEW TEAM TO RUN NATION

Wilson in Cross-Country Campaign Reverts to Football Terms.

CROWDS GREET HIM

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 20.—Governor Woodrow Wilson campaigned in the rain yesterday as he traveled across the state for a speech here last night. Everywhere en route where the train stopped the governor was greeted by crowds, which stood huddled under umbrellas while the candidate talked politics under trying conditions. The governor's speech here was his principal effort of the day.

At many places on the trip across this state and northern Indiana the nominee stepped down from the train and stood in the rain to shake hands with those who pressed forward to meet him. He made a short address at Michigan City, Ind. Several Wellesley college girls were on the same train with Governor Wilson and they went back to the special car to meet him.

At Kalamazoo, Mich., a crowd of collegians gave the governor a cheer. It was there that he made his longest speech of the afternoon.

"I have found that the subjects to be discussed in this campaign are so tremendous that they can hardly be handled in speeches from the rear end of the train," said the governor. "Moreover, the rear platform is not the democratic platform this time.

Disentanglement Needed.

"We are genuinely interested in the one subject that lies nearest my own heart, namely, setting the government free. Because, whether it was done intentionally or not, there is no doubt about it that our government in recent years has been seriously entangled with special interests of various kinds, and the men who got it entangled can not get it disentangled. That is the whole point of the matter.

"There is no time to discuss here how we got into it or how we are to get out of it. But the point is that the people of the United States have made up their minds to get out of it, and there is only one team ready to do the business, and that is the democratic team.

"I am speaking in the terms of a man who has been bred in a football college. I know the third team is not organized. It does not even know the signals, and the regular republican team is very much weakened. It has lost some of its principal players. But there have been no losses on the democratic side. On the contrary, there have been a great many gains."

Brings a Nickname.

Gov. Woodrow Wilson, democratic nominee for the presidency, brought a nickname with him on his return to Chicago yesterday morning for an eighty-minute stop.

In Minneapolis he was greeted as "Woody." He liked the appellation so well that he boasted of it to his western manager, Joseph E. Davies.

"I must be getting on out here," he commented.

"The people were so demonstrative in Minneapolis that they almost claimed my index digit as a souvenir," he added.

The governor did not explain how he nearly lost the finger, but it was noticed that he favored the member while shaking hands with some 2,000 admirers in the national headquarters in the Karpen building.

The candidate's self accepted pet name probably will stick. It was taken up by the attaches of his campaign bureau, also by members of his traveling party. He smiled good naturedly whenever he heard it.

Socialist Nominee for Governor Coming.

STEPHEN MARION REYNOLDS.

Announcement is made by the local organization of socialists that Stephen Marion Reynolds, of Terre Haute, the socialist candidate for governor of Indiana, will speak at Odeon hall on Saturday, Sept. 21, at 8 p. m., and big preparations are being made for this meeting. So many requests are being received by the state secretary for addresses by Mr. Reynolds that it will be impossible for him to visit this section of the state again and the socialists expect to make the most of this meeting.

Mr. Reynolds is a unique character in his home city. For many years he had an extensive law practice and many large business firms and corporations were among his permanent clients. Mr. Reynolds deliberately sacrificed this practice in announcing himself a socialist some years ago. His wealthy clients left him as his convictions became known. During the past few years he has maintained an office and given free legal advice to workingmen. Living in the heart of the coal district he is frequently consulted by miners who are injured and crippled at their work as well as other workingmen who seek advice on various legal matters.

Mr. Reynolds, as socialist candidate for governor, is a puzzle to his opponents as he insists that he will be the next governor of Indiana. He is optimistic about it and will not consider any other result. His reasons for his belief are given in his addresses which always leave a good feeling behind and also send his audiences home with some serious thoughts regarding the great social questions of the day.

BLOOMINGTON TO HAVE A SHAKE-UP

Several Officials Under Indictment in Illinois City.

NAME FORMER MAYOR

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 20.—McLean county's grand jury gave Bloomington a municipal sensation yesterday. It returned true bills of indictment against Albert Moore, who recently resigned the mayoralty; Fred Lang, chief of police; John Hegarty, night captain of police, and Edward Hensel, sergeant of police. The defendants were accused of omission of duty and malfeasance in office.

In addition to that action the jury found indictments against gamblers and proprietors of gambling resorts and houses of ill repute, and also against persons who own buildings in which dens existed. Many of these property owners are prominent citizens.

The report of the grand jury was the climax of an investigation of municipal conditions by two Chicago detectives engaged by a local paper. Rumors of municipal graft, of protection of gamblers on payment of money and of protection of immoral houses led to the detectives' investigation. The detectives reported to the grand jury and the indictments were returned.

The grand jury and the court, however, went much further than was generally expected. It was the first time in the history of the city that owners of vice dens became involved in such writs.

The indictment of the police officers means a shake-up in their department. Numerous resignations are looked for at the next session of the city council.

An indictment charging manslaughter was returned against J. T. Phillips, a conductor, of Urbana, who shot and killed a tramp "beating his way" on the Big Four railway.

Moore is president of the Bloomington Base Ball association of the "Three I" league.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 20.—The last of the bodies of the eleven naval recruits who were drowned in Lake Michigan at Lake Bluff, Ill., Sunday afternoon by the capsizing of a sailor were recovered yesterday. They were those of Walter Woodward, Scarlettown, Ill., James W. Boudt, Warsaw, Ind., and Lyman R. Field, Scranton, Ill.

BASEBALL ATHLETICS

TELEPHONED HIS RULING TO PARK

Umpire Beat It and Then Changed His Mind at Hotel.

THE DECISION STOOD

By WALTER JOHNSON,
"The Greatest Pitcher in America."

Being a resident of Kansas, it is natural that the funniest baseball tale I ever heard should have its setting in that state.

The incident dates back seven or eight years, and an umpire playing the leading role. I wasn't a big leaguer when the stunt was pulled, and didn't appreciate the affair as I do now.

If my memory serves me correctly, Independence and Parsons were playing.

"It's the only case on record where the umpire telephoned his decision," says Walter Johnson.

Two games were played on the Fourth of July, in the latter city. The umpire in the morning game was Gorman. Around him centered the trouble of the morning.

That Gorman didn't like the way the fans treated him was proved when he didn't show up for the afternoon game. I am told he never held an indicator in another game, his lone experience causing him to lose any love he might have had for the job.

At the end of the ninth the score was a tie and the crowd was wrought up over the extra inning. Neither club scored in the tenth. In the first of the eleventh Independence got a man as far as third with two down, and the next batter hit a ball to deep short.

The umpire's first impression, as well as decision, was that the batter was safe and that Independence had put over the run that looked big enough to win the game.

The captain and manager of the home team, seeing that the umpire had waved the batter safe, made a rush for the official. All the Parsons players followed. About this time Umpire Gorman was thinking how much pleasanter it would be back with the old folks. Seeing the home athletes on the rush, he proclaimed, the batter out.

The home team halted, but Independence took up the charge. In a minute Gorman was giving an imitation of a rear brakeman on a freight train, alternately making motions that he had declared the runner out and safe.

The crowd then took up the affair and started to make things pleasant for Gorman. About this time the official took it on the run, beating the crowd to safety by a good margin.

After reaching his hotel Gorman telephoned the ball park, got the manager of the home team on the phone and informed him that he had called the runner out and that the run didn't score.

I am sure this is the only case on record where the umpire telephoned his decision. And it stood. The contest was declared a tie, and played over.

A new umpire worked in the afternoon game.

MORGAN TO TRY COME BACK.

Wants to Join Washington and Show He Is Still a Pitcher.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 20.—Cy Morgan, lately with the Athletics, declared today that Clark Griffith wants him for his Nationals. Morgan said that he would buy his release from the Kansas City club, to whom Connie Mack sold him, provided that club does not hold him too highly and will sell.

"I know that I can come back and more than hold my own," said Cy. "I want the chance. Clark Griffith wants me, and if I can buy my release, I will offer him my services first. Pitching in the slower set has done wonders for my control, and I can now put the pill where I want it."

BOBBY LOWE DID NOT DRAFT CADY

Was Looking for Catcher But Evansville Man Didn't Look Good.

WILL GET BIG MONEY

In 1910 Bobby Lowe, scouting for Detroit, was looking for the best young catcher in the Central league and was cited to Forest Cady, of the Evansville club, as the best prospect, but he looked him over and could not see that he was ready to make good in fast company.

On the recommendation of Larry Sutton, Newark, of the then Eastern league, put in a draft for the catcher and before the end of the season of 1911 sold him to the Boston Americans for an equivalent of $10,000, several players being included in the deal. The catcher cost the Newark management the sum of $600, which was then the draft price.

Cady is the only player on the champion Red Sox who graduated from the Central league and one of the few men overlooked for one season. He was drafted from one of the small leagues in Illinois by the management of the Evansville club and played there one season before he attracted any attention and when he was first noticed he made only one step upwards in the base ball world.

Lowe is a pretty astute scout, but he now and then overlooks a good bet and in this instance he missed one, but Cady is the gainer, because if he had gone to Detroit he would not have gotten a cut on the world's series money, which will be enough for his winter coal in any event.

With the increased seating capacity at Fenway park, in Boston, upon which a gang of carpenters is now engaged, and which will, upon completion, provide practically the same accommodations as will obtain at the Polo grounds in New York, it is expected that the players' share in the coming world's series between the Red Sox and the Giants—for these are the two teams that are all but certain to take part in the series—will split up among themselves close to $160,000.

In other words, each member of the winning team, upon the pro rata basis prescribed by the national commission for the division of receipts, will receive not far from $5,000. The members of the losing team will get about $3,400 apiece, providing the assumption regarding the receipts proves correct. In such case the players earn far more money than those who have participated in the world's series of former years. The present high-water mark was reached last year when twenty members of the Athletics, eligible to share in the receipts, got $3,837.31 each, while each of the twenty-one Giants similarly eligible, was given a check for $2,436.34.

Under the rules laid down by the national commission to govern the world's series the players, decided upon by the commission as eligible to share in the money division, are entitled to 60 per cent. of the receipts of each of the first four games after 10 per cent. of the gross has been deducted for the national commission. It is a popular idea, although a mistaken one, that all of the receipts in the first four games go to the players. It is also distinctly stipulated in the rules that in the case of a tie in any of the first four games, the players shall not be entitled to any part of the receipts of the fifth game. Nor shall the players be allowed any of the revenue accruing from the sale of the moving picture or other rights.

WADDELL LANDED ON A DISTURBER

Stops When Lady Faints and Devotes His Attention to Her.

GOOD FLOOR MANAGER

New York, Sept. 20.—Rube Waddell had a kind heart always open to the cries of the unhappy, and especially gentle toward the ladies, says Arthur Irwin, in telling stories about the game's greatest southpaw. "One night in Philadelphia there was a dance—a large dance, full of people and excitement. I was interested in it and asked Rube to be my guest. Mr. Waddell arrived early and was quieted by being presented with a gorgeous badge denoting him as floor marshall. Armed with this, Mr. Waddell was as nice and polite as Lord Chesterfield himself and gave no trouble. The managers soon ceased to worry about Rube and were given other things to trouble them.

"About midnight, a prizefighter, named Seiger, of some repute as a rough, hardy dugger, came into the hall and at once started making war medicine. Inside of ten minutes I had to go in and help the floor committee draw him off of some inoffensive fellow who hadn't kowtowed to his sovereignty. About ten minutes later we had to sally in again and rescue some well-dressed gentleman from Seiger's clutches. 'Better cut it out, said I, 'you are looking for a trimming and you will get it, sure.'

"'Ain't nobody on the floor goin' to hand it to me,' jeered Seiger, and back he went shouldering through the throng. A minute passed—then I heard loud noises and then one thud of fast falling blows. In I rushed and beheld Mr. Seiger going rapidly round the floor under the mighty fists of Rube Waddell. Before the Rube's gigantic strength and pile-driving blows the prizefighter was helpless. Seiger was receiving a frightful beating, but he had it coming to him, and no one interfered. Finally Seiger fell against the wall and the Rube, his eyes blazing with murderous delight, simply hailed blows upon the dazed and bleeding pugilist. Just as he was drawing back his great fists for another wallop, there was a shrill shriek and a woman fainted.

"Instantly the Rube turned, ran to the spot where the girl had fallen and picked her up. He bore her to an anteroom, poured water on her forehead till she revived. As she began to regain her senses some one stuck his head into the ante-room and said kiddingly: 'Say, Rube, he ain't quite dead yet.'

"Rube shook his head. 'Chivalry,' said Mr. Waddell, 'comes before pleasure. I ain't going to move from here till this lady gets her thinks back. Soon as she's O. K. I'll go finish him, but I won't stir a step till then.'

"It need hardly be added that the much-battered Mr. Seiger was nowhere to be found when Mr. Waddell came seeking him after his mission of mercy was finished."

WORLD'S SERIES TO START OCT. 7

Date Tentatively Fixed by National Baseball Commission.

BUT ONE DAY OF REST

New York, Sept. 20.—The world's series baseball games are to begin Monday, October 7. This date is said to have been tentatively agreed upon by the National commission which meets here next Wednesday to draft plans for the games. The date for the opening of the series was based upon the assumption that the New York Nationals and the Boston Americans would win the pennants in their respective leagues.

The Boston club has already won the pennant and the Giants expect to win within the next ten days. The playing season of the Boston Red Sox and the New York Giants closes on October 9, and one day's rest before the big games is deemed sufficient. An early start of the series is desired as the commission desires to take advantage of good weather.

It is learned that the commission has practically decided to play two consecutive days at one city. The club owners will toss a coin to determine which city shall have the opening games.

NOTES OF THE SHAMROCKS.

Monte Hoffer will be back in the game next Sunday, after an absence of three weeks, owing to a broken finger. The Antwerp Reds will be here with the Carr brothers doing the heavy work and Jack Smith will go back to his old position in left, which was taken care of by Clarence Centilivre, while Smith was behind the bat. Centilivre made a good showing, getting four hits in the two engagements in which he took part.

Billy Strawbridge is suffering from an injured ligament in his salary whip, which accounts for some of the wild throws he has made in the last two games. Strawbridge is an accurate thrower when in shape.

A victory Sunday will cinch third place for the Shamrocks, and bring one of the silver cups to Fort Wayne.

YOST LIKES THE CHANGE IN GAME

Says All the New Rules in Football Are for the Betterment.

IS BACK IN HARNESS

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 20.—Back in Ann Arbor again and hard at work with his squad, eight of whose members were on last year's team, Coach Hurry-Up Yost speaks with optimism about Michigan's chances for the 1912 season and with enthusiasm about the new football rules.

"After careful consideration of the new code I do not see that a rule was added or changed by the football rules committee that will not be for the betterment of the game," said Yost, on being asked his opinion of the new code.

"The rules have been materially simplified so far as they affect the actual play upon the field," he continued. "For, while but few changes have been made that vitally affect the game, there has been a decided lessening of the complexity of the old system. The committee, in my opinion, has at last reached the sought-after combination—that of saving the player and the play.

"Under the system of 1911 the 'break' of the game, which embraces flukes and chance plays, was 75 per cent of the scoring result. Under the present code these elements of chance will not go beyond 25 per cent and, in the proportion that luck has been eliminated, science, speed, versatility and power have been given their chance to shape results.

"The changes, as I view them, will not work against the smaller and lighter teams of ability. The granting of four downs and the right to make a forward pass for any distance and for ten yards in goal, have given the lighter team a better chance to win on its merits than this team ever held under the previous rules. Under the old regulations it was almost impossible for a light team to gain consistently by rushing the ball and so they were forced almost entirely to open field work. Heavier and stronger teams, finding a close defense unnecessary, were able to shift back and thus easily block this open field play. As the rules now stand the heavier team will be forced to concentrate its defense more than before and, with most restrictions lifted from the forward pass, an alert, shifty eleven should be able to do a double amount of execution.

"There is no reason to fear any return to the old pushing, smashing game as long as the rule requires seven men on the line of scrimmage when a ball is put in play and that a runner cannot in any way be assisted by his teammates. I believe the public will be more pleased with the game of football this season than at any time in the past, and that the game will be as free from accidents as it is possible to make it. There will be more scoring, more varied attack and more scientific work."

OPPORTUNITY TO SHOW ITS PLACE

Base Ball Protective Association Has Chance to Help Out.

REFUSE TO SELL MEN

There promises to be a use and a field for the projected baseball players' association, if the dispatches from San Francisco correctly depict the situation there. According to information published, the team owners of the Pacific Coast league have decided not to sell any of their stars to the majors, and are refusing offers for valuable players, under an agreement entered into by the various clubs. This, of course, is in violation of the spirit of the national agreement, one of whose principal objects purports to be the advancement of ball players in their profession.

Under the rules of baseball, the top-notch minor leagues hold the whip hand in this particular sense. They can lose only one man each year by draft. With this situation existing, it is possible for them to drive prices to the limit. It is also possible, if they do not care to let their players get away, for them to refuse offers, and to retain their men. The draft can take but one, and, by a little manipulation with some friends in the majors, they can arrange things so that there is a chance that the man lost in the draft is one that they do not care especially about retaining. This has been done repeatedly, in the past and probably will be done in the future.

The situation would be more serious were all of the big minor leagues concerned. But those of the east, the International league and the American association, seem to be disposing of their men now as in the past. In this they are wise. A minor league club's best chance to make money—unless it is winning a pennant, or making a great fight for one—is through sales of its stars. A year or two ago there was a movement in the east for an agreement such as is said to exist at the Pacific coast. The owners, however, saw the light and have not since blinded themselves to their own interests.

At best a ball player gets the worst of it, in one way. After he signs his first contract he is gone. From that time, assuming that he makes good, other persons decide where he will work. He is entitled to advancement, if worthy of it. The Pacific coast people would keep him bound down, imprisoned in a minor organization. Under the present laws of baseball, they can hold him. The situation can be roped with, however, if the national commission starts out to give the young player his rights. There are simple ways of meeting the present situation.

SECOND VENTURE IN BIG CIRCUIT

Fort Wayne Was Member of Dozen-Club League Long Time Ago.

HAD FEW LONG JUMPS

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 20.—Although it has been generally conceded that the Central league of the season of 1912 was the first venture in a dozen-club circuit in the minors, it is not the case, as this city, Fort Wayne and Grand Rapids were in the old Northwestern twenty-eight years ago and there were twelve teams in that organization.

This was in 1884 at a time when railroad travel had not been brought up to its present standard and the fact that Stillwater, Minn., was one of the towns on the circuit indicates that the jumps were long and naturally tiresome without the speed or convenience that are now enjoyed by ball players.

The league that season was unwieldy, because of the distance necessary to be traveled and it disbanded late in July. The other nine cities in the league were Minneapolis, St. Paul, Stillwater, Bay City, Saginaw, Muskegon, Peoria, Quincy and Milwaukee.

L. D. Smith, former owner of the Terre Haute franchise in the Central league, was one of the promoters of the old Northwestern circuit and was one of the heavy stockholders. He took as much interest in the national pastime in those days as he does now, and declares that while many of the rules were different and the fans and newspapers did not use the slang phrases, now called "baseball language," as they do now, he derived as much fun from watching a hot contest on the diamond as he does at present.

The reporting of the games in the newspapers was much different from the general style used in those days. The manager of the team sent in the dispatches, which in those days were usually short, and told nothing about how the runs were made.

Just twenty-eight years ago in August, the Terre Haute Northwestern league team played in Stillwater, Minn., and lost, 5 to 3. As in these days, the umpire did not escape criticism, and the management of the Terre Haute team in 1884, in sending in his dispatch, declared "we will protest this game." Bad work of Umpire Jennings was given as the cause. Mr. Smith says that the indicator handler in those days was not Hughie Jennings of the Tigers.

One of the players of those days was Third Baseman Donnelly, who afterwards became a star in the American league while playing with the Washington club. Center Fielder Halbriter, according to Mr. Smith, went to California soon after the close of the league. He hit the Golden West when it was at its prime, and he is now considered a wealthy man, even as wealthy men are figured in the twentieth century.

The report of the game at Stillwater, twenty-eight years ago yesterday, was as follows, in the Express:

"Stillwater, Minn., July 28. — Umpire Jennings got in his dirty work. In the ninth inning Lotz led off with a base hit, Carr follows him with a hit, sending Lotz to second. Halbriter knocks a fly to second. Peters calls to drop it, and the ball is dropped. Jennings calls Halbriter out. Halbriter protests and Jennings fines Halbriter $25. Carr protests. Jennings calls Lotz out on third, and calls time and then Peters comes in and touches Carr with the ball. Jennings calls Carr out, giving Stillwater the game with but one man out. We will protest this game. The score:

GREWSOME TOMB SHOWS ODD MAN

Eastern Village is Visited by Many Tourists Each Year.

VAULT NEVER SHUT

Boston, Mass, Sept. 20.—For the curious and morbid who can muster courage enough to enter a dark and damp tomb in a wilderness off a lonesome road between the towns of Petersham and Dana, a remarkable sight is in store.

There lies in his casket the body of a man who died forty years ago, with features nearly as natural as the day he was laid at rest. The hair and beard are of the same color as the day he died. The clothing shows no decay and the collar, cravat anad pin appear to be none the worse for age. On the man's casket is a decayed box, which contains a skull and the bones of his first wife, and her child.

The tomb is one of the curiosities of the town of Petersham, whose selectmen intend to have it sealed, and there are many grewsome and exciting stories told concerning it and the dead who have been placed in it.

The tomb was built in 1868 by the man whose corpse is exposed to public curiosity. He was Asa Snow, a man of unusual traits. For many years he lived on a farm between Petersham and Dana and was known as "Popcorn" Snow.

At an early age he began to plan for the future, saving every cent, and is believed to have amassed a fortune, the greater part of which is said to be buried in the meadows or woods of his place.

Built His Own Tomb.

Not only did he provide for old age while living, but went further than the majority of people and made careful preparations for his bodily welfare after death. In his declining years he made all preparations for dying and the disposal of his body.

The first step was the building of a family tomb on the edge of a wood lot of his farm. His own hands helped to do the work and he put in many hours of hard labor in putting the tomb in readiness. It was built on a hillside, carefully sodded on the top. A lot was cleared and grassed in front, and an iron fence inclosed it.

After the tomb had been finished, the man's next step was to go to a boxmaker and he measured for a casket. Although the old man never had heard of a metallic casket, no doubt few were manufactured at that time, he put in his order for one, and saw to it personally that it was properly constructed and strongly built. The casket was promptly paid for when finished, and its owner took it away with him to await the time when it would come into use.

It was November 29, 1872, that the casket was pulled from its resting place, dusted and made ready for its owner. Mr. Snow was a vegetarian, but, strange to say, it was the handling of meat that caused his death.

Dreaded Burial Alive.

He had been to his barn, where he killed a pig. After dressing it, he placed it over his shoulder to carry to the house. The exertion of carrying the meat caused a sudden attack of heart failure, and the man fell dead on the threshold of his house.

Mr. Snow, a long time before his death, engaged his undertaker and made arrangements with a man in Petersham to solder on the top of his casket. This man also had promised Mr. Snow that he would visit the vault each day for seven days, to look at the corpse and make sure life was extinct.

A glass plate ten inches square at the head of the casket, over the face, was plain, for this purpose. It is through this glass that the body can be seen today.

As Mr. Snow died in the winter, traveling between Petersham and the Snow estate was hard on account of the snow, and it was with difficulty that the Petersham man kept his promise to view the body. It is said that after making three trips to the tomb, he was dismissed by the wife, who said that if her husband was not dead when they placed him in his coffin, he was frozen to death, anyway, "by this time."

Popcorn His Sole Diet.

Asa Snow received the name of "Popcorn" Snow because popcorn is said to have been his principal diet, as a vegetarian. It is said that for days he would eat nothing but popcorn and milk and would take it to the hayfield to eat between meals. His farm hands were obliged to live on the same diet.

According to the story of some of the old residents of Petersham, who remember Mr. Snow, he was married twice. His first wife came to her death by suicide from hanging. One morning in August, 1844, Mr. Snow went to his barn from the hayfield and found his wife dead, her body hanging from a rafter.

This was before the tomb was erected, and the body was buried in a lot near the house. After Mr. Snow erected the tomb, it is said, he went to his wife's grave with box and shovel, and dug up her bones. These he exhibited to those who cared to look at them and later they were placed in a box and deposited in the tomb. Minerva, his daughter, died November 15, 1845, shortly after her mother's death, and her body also was placed in the tomb at a later date. Her age is given as ten years.

It was not long after the death of Mr. Snow that some one broke open the tomb through curiosity, and since that time it has been open at various intervals. Of late no attempt has been made to keep it locked.

Few, if any, medicines, have met with the uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The remarkable cures of colic and diarrhoea which it has effected in almost every neighborhood have given it a wide reputation. For sale by all dealers.

Aunt Sally's Advice to Beauty Seekers

C. M. R.: The neck should receive similar attention to that given the complexion, so color and texture of skin will be the same. A yellow neck and a white face gives a discordant effect. I advise using for both neck and complexion, the treatment recommended to "Monica."

F. M.: First, stop scowling, if you would get rid of the lines between the eyes. The best application for such lines and all wrinkles, is a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 ounce, dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pint. Bathe the face in this daily until entirely relieved.

Monica: You hardly need such a list of cosmetics as you mention. Ordinary mercolized wax will help you more than any or all of them. It will gradually absorb the withered, discolored complexion and you will soon have a new, youthful and healthy-looking skin. You needn't get more than an ounce of the wax, which will cost you little at any druggist's. Apply nightly, like cold cream, washing it off mornings.—Woman's Realm.

PUTS "COWITCH" IN STOCKINGS.

Three Young Women Bathers Surprised by Mischievous Boy.

Harmon, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Bathing in a secluded nook in the Hudson river, three young women, incased in approved garments, were painfully surprised by a mischievous small boy while they were in the water. Unobserved by the girls, he stole into their tent and as quietly made his escape. Emerging from their bath, the girls resumed their attire and started for their homes, but almost immediately were afflicted with intolerable itching of their nether extremities below the knee. And in the friendly obscurity of some hawthorn bushes they sat down and removed their stockings. They found that the hosiery had been liberally treated with "cowitch," a dry vegetable substance obtained from crooked pods, which has the power to irritate the flesh. The sufferers—Miss Edna Hoelzel, Miss Mildred Eldred and Miss Mabel Meade—are quietly making inquiries for that mischievous boy.

NEWLY WEDS PUT IN LION CHARIOT

Chained Together They Are Driven Through Public Streets.

A TRICK OF JOKERS

Pittsburg, Sept. 20.—With brass bands playing and 2,000 neighbors, friends and others following and cheering, Harry Spohn, a young merchant, and his bride, who was Miss Mary Brown, were driven through the streets of Crafton, a suburb of this city, caged and ironed together in an iron-barred carnival animal wagon.

Spohn and Miss Brown eloped to Grove City, Pa., and were married. The elopement was planned principally to escape the practical humorists among Mr. Spohn's employes and friends.

When the merrymakers arrived at the house with the lion cage, belonging to a carnival company, in which Spohn was confined after being captured as he was leaving his office, Mrs. Spohn, hearing the clamor in front of her home, ran to the door and saw her husband siting in the cage.

The crowd then made a dash for the bride. She barred the doors, and, running to an upstairs window, raised the shade and laughed at them, thinking she had outwitted them. She soon learned differently, however, as two of the youngest of Mr. Spohn's employes, Howard Moss and Walter Burgess, had climbed to the roof and entered the house through a gable window.

Mrs. Spohn was soon closely "locked" with her husband in the lion's chariot.

The machine was traveling at a high rate of speed as one of the wheels of the rig was demolished. Mr. Hibler was slightly injured and asks the police to help him to find the driver of the motorcycle.

MUST PULL DOWN STATUE OF FAITH

Pilgrims' Big Monument at Plymouth Damaged by Lightning.

THOUSANDS KNOW IT

Plymouth, Mass., Sept. 20.—The Pilgrim society, custodian of the monument to the forefathers which was damaged by a lightning bolt last month, are still puzzling over the problem of repairing it. The monument consists of a 36-foot statue of Faith on a base 45 feet high. It was dedicated August 1, 1889.

The lightning landed on the upraised right hand, as a field glass discloses, and, passing downward, rent apart the stones just below the bust for a distance of between eight inches and a foot. No one has climbed up to ascertain exactly. The stones composing the hips are also separated, the breakage being seen inthe drapery. The next break is observable just below the feet of the statue, whence a line leads directly to the center of the keystone of the arch over the top of the panel containing the names of some of the passengers of the Mayflower. From this point the path of the discharge is clear, the gilded letters being burned to a rusty red brown, and the direction of the discharge being indicated below that on the stonework even better in the photograph than it is in the original.

It is believed that the big statue will have to be pulled down, at least as far as the knees. The monument is viewed with great interest by the thousands of tourists who come here every summer from all over the world.

Thinness Easily Overcome.

(From "Health and Beauty.")

Further evidence is being presented almost daily that a recent compound of new chemical elements combined in a tablet with hypophosphites is in reality proving a blessing to the abnormally thin men and women, for it can be demonstrated beyond doubt that a regular course of three or four months' treatment brings an increase in weight of from 10 to 30 pounds, with a decided improvement in health and color, too. For self administration the most popular form is to be found in three grain hypo-nuclane tablets, obtainable in sealed packages from the best apothecary shops, with full directions.

Jefferson Club Demonstration Will Officially Open Campaign.

'TIS AN OLD CUSTOM

Following the custom established years ago by Allen county democracy, the active campaign will be opened here with the rally of the Jefferson club. In former national campaigns, the first rally of the Jefferson club always served to mark the opening of the Allen county fight for a democratic victory and this year the opening ceremonies tonight will be of special importance.

Members of the Jefferson club, with the marching brigade and the drum corps will form in line at 7:30 at democratic headquarters and will move north on Harrison street to Columbia, east on Columbia to Barr, south on Barr to Jefferson, west on Jefferson to Calhoun, north on Calhoun to Main and then west to Odeon hall.

A short business meeting will be held immediately after the parade at which time nearly two hundred new members will be received. This will bring the total membership of the Jefferson club up to eight hundred.

Program of Speeches.

A program of speaking will follow the business session. Owing to the absence of President Maurice C. Niezer, Herman Buefer will preside and addresses will be delivered by Hon. James M. Barrett, Hon. James M. Robinson and Senator Stephen B. Fleming.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. H. Cremean, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church. Owing to the serious illness of the bride's brother, only immediate relatives and friends were invited. The bride looked handsome in a becoming gown of white silk with trimmings of chiffon. She held a bouquet of bride roses. After congratulations refreshments were served. The decorations of the bride's table and the room were roses and smilax. Both bride and groom are highly esteemed by their acquaintances. Mr. Hicks is a tinner for the Pennsylvania company. Rippe—Sweeny.

A pretty wedding of the season took place on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the residence of Rev. F. Wambsganss, who officiated at the ceremony, when Miss Wanda Sweny became the bride of Mr. Roy A. Rippe. After the ceremony the bride and groom were driven to the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rippe, of 1338 Huestis avenue. Only relatives and a few close friends were present. The bride was beautifully gowned in a white marquisette, hand embroidered, hung over pink satin and trimmed with Irish lace. Pretty pink rosebuds were the only ornament of the bride's hair and her bouquet was composed of bride roses. The diningroom was decorated in pink and the other rooms in festoons of leaves. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. Louis D. Sweny, of 126 Baker street, and for some time has had complete charge of her father's home. The bride is capable and a competent housekeeper besides a young woman of winning manner and sweet character. The bridegroom is a young man of sterling ability and has many devoted friends. There were about fifty guests at the wedding reception. The bride and groom left the city on a few days' trip to eastern points and on their return will be at home with the bride's father. For traveling the bride wore a blue serge jacket suit with blue chiffon blouse and a blue hat trimmed with white aigrettes.

REBELS WIPE OUT ENTIRE COMMAND

Achieve Notable Victory Over Mexican Federals Under Obregon.

TURN AFTER A ROUT

Douglas, Ariz., Sept. 20.—It is reported that the entire command of federals under Col. Obregon was wiped out by rebels in a battle at San Joaquin ranch today. Those not killed were taken prisoners by the rebels.

The rebels are said to have been led by Salazar and Rojas, who were routed yesterday by the federals.

They are reported to have attacked the federals while the latter were gathering up the rebel wounded and trying to ascertain the rebel losses in yesterday's battle. The rebel force was much superior to the federals.

WHISKY TURNED INTO GUTTERS

Revenue Officials Strike Pay Dirt in a Raid at Petersburg.

CATCH BLIND TIGERS

Petersburg, Ind., Sept. 20.—Hundreds of gallons of fine whisky were destroyed here today when revenue officials raided three places where it was alleged liquor had been sold illegally. More than a dray load of demijohns and barrels containing whisky were taken to the public square and their contents were dumped into the gutter.

The place of Albert Gilmore, who was out of town, was raided and his whisky was dumped into the street. A drayman accompanied the revenue officers and as the whisky was confiscated he hauled it away and poured it in the gutter.

Petersburg is a "dry" town and the raid was a surprise as the owners had not taken the precaution to hide the liquor. The places raided had no liquor licenses, and a number of men who have been intoxicated recently swore they had bought whisky from the proprietors of the places. A large crowd followed the officers from place to place and looked on while the whisky was being destroyed.

DEMURRER IS SUSTAINED.

Court Holds Indiana Traction Merger Legally Accomplished.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 20.—Judge Remster, of the circuit court, today sustained the demurer of the Indiana Union Traction company to the suit brought by A. M. Thompson and George Marott to prevent the consolidation of the Indiana Union traction company and the Union Traction company of Indiana.

An injunction and receiver for the company were asked. The suit was brought before the consolidation was effected. The court denies the petition on the ground that the consolidation has been legally perfected.

NAMED AS ADMINISTRATOR.

Judge Sparks to Settle Estate of Charles H. Campbell.

Shelbyville, Ind., Sept. 20.—Wm. M. Sparks, of Rushville, ex-judge of the Rush-Shelby circuit court, has been appointed administrator of the estate of Charles H. Campbell, the progressive leader who was killed in an automobile accident in Indianapolis. The bond of Mr. Sparks was placed at $20,000. Mr. Campbell did not leave a will.

Mr. Campbell carried more than $100,000 in life and accident insurance.

Mrs. Campbell, who was the second wife, will get one-third of the personal property.

REBELS CAPTURE TOWN.

Nicaraguan Revolutionists Victorious in Five-Hour Fight.

San Juan Del Sur, Nicaragua, Sept. 20.—Nicaraguan revolutionists yesterday attacked and captured the town of San Jorge on Lake Nicaragua, five miles east of Rivas, the capital of the most southerly department on the Pacific side of Nicaragua.

While the rebel gunboats bombarded San Jorge another force of insurgents furiously attacked Rivas, cutting the telegraph wires to San Juan Del Sur, and gradually forcing the government troops to fall back of the town of Cuarte.

When the rebel attack slackened the government forces captured a rapid-fire gun and used it with such deadly effect that the rebels were obliged to retire.

The fight lasted five hours and both sides suffered many casualties.

ARMED GUARDS AT MINES.

Kentucky Owners Offer Reward for Arrest of Incendiaries.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 20.—The owners of the Rose Run iron mines in Bath county, where a strike has been in progress for the past three months, have placed armed guards about the mines and have offered a reward for the persons that burned the railroad trestle leading to th mines. Following his arrest an X-ray of his brain was made by the police in an effort to ascertain his mental condition. O'Bryan's landlady had informed the police that he had been acting queerly and she gave it as her opinion that his mind was unbalanced.

ONE ELEVATED TRACK FINISHED

Wabash Trains to Use New Line Between Depot and River in a Week.

LAKE SHORE ADDS TO YARD FORCE

Puts Third Trick Engine and Crew in Service—Shops News.

All Wabash freight and passenger trains from the west and going west will use the elevated tracks after Sunday, Sept. 29. The south track elevation work is finished with the exception of ballasting and that work commences tomorrow and will be pushed to completion within a week. Tomorrow the distribution of rails, ties and other material for the second elevated track will commence and it is expected it will be ready for the ballast in two or three weeks. While ballasting is in progress it will be impossible to do any grading for the elevated tracks and the Hannan-Hickey Railroad Construction company will put their whole grading force at work at Hugo, where a deep cut is to be made for a second track. Mr. Hickey, who has charge of the work, said this morning that this would consume about a week and when it is finished the first elevated track will be handling all the road trains and relieve the grade tracks so that elevation of them can be taken up. The big steam shovel was moved down to Hugo this afternoon and put in position for commencing work on the cut in the morning. Track elevation as carried on by the Hannan-Hickey company is progressing wonderfully rapid and will be finished before snow begins to fly.

OBSERVED TWO ANNIVERSARIES.

Tuesday marked the anniversary of two important epochs in the life of Ed Hausbach, foreman of the Wabash machine shop. It was the thirty-first anniversary of his birth and the fifteenth anniversary of the beginning of his shop work. The anniversary was made the occasion for congratulation on the part of Mr. Hausbach's shopmates and he was busy at times shaking hands with the boys. He was seventeen years old when he began an apprenticeship at the machinist's trade at the shops of the Western Gas Construction company. He remained at those shops, working as a machinist after serving his apprenticeship, until five years ago, when he resigned to take the position at the Wabash shops he now occupies.

WILL INSPECT HOME LINES.

Division Officials of Pennsylvania Company Will Not Go East.

Last year a number of the division officials of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg accompanied an inspection party over the lines east of Pittsburg, while eastern division officials made the trip over the lines west of Pittsburg. The annual inspection of the Pennsylvania lines east and west of Pittsburg will be made the first week in October and so far as can be learned, the division officials will make the trip over the lines of which their respective divisions are a part, with the exception of a few of the road supervisors. Fred Pelzer, supervisor of the Plymouth district, and Rudolph Pett, supervisor of the Van Wert district, are the only division officials from the Western division who will make the trip over the lines east of Pittsburg. Last year there were five Western division officials in the inspection party east of Pittsburg—Supt. W. M. Wardrop, Assistant Division Engineer A. C. Watson and three supervisors. Motive Power Superintendent T. W. Demarest, who is one of the general officers, will probably join the inspection party east of Pittsburg. The inspection of the lines west of Pittsburg will be crowded into two days this year. The party will leave Pittsburg Wednesday morning, October 2, lay over night at Lafayette, Ohio; pass through Fort Wayne at 9:15 o'clock Thursday morning and end the inspection in Chicago.

SEVENTY MILES PER HOUR.

Pennsylvania Puts Maximum Speed Limit in Operation.

The order has gone forth from Pennsylvania railroad headquarters that hereafter no engineer will be permitted to run his train at a speed greater than seventy miles per hour. This order became effective today and it will only become operative when the train is behind time and the engineer is not permitted to run fast to make up the lost moments. None of the company's trains are scheduled at a greater speed than seventy miles per hour over any part of their route and the maximum speed limit will not, it is believed, appreciably inconvenience the public, because over 90 per cent. of the company's trains are operated on time and have no lost time to make up and consequently no occasion for exceeding the regular schedule.

BROKEN RAIL CAUSES TROUBLE.

Blocks Wabash Tracks and Delays Trains.

A couple cars in a freight train on the Wabash were derailed at the coal docks this morning by a broken rail. The accident was not of a serious nature, but owing to the situation it resulted in very aggravating consequences. With the coal docks on one side and the elevated track on the other side, the track was completely blocked and some of the passenger trains were delayed. No. 2, eastbound, was held at the scene of the wreck two hours.

INCREASING YARD FORCE.

Lake Shore Puts Another Engine in Service.

W. D. Stearn, trainmaster of the Lake Shore, is in the city today installing a third trick engine and crew in service. The business of the local yards is the heaviest in the history of the company and the indications point to still heavier business in the near future. C. D. Rose is the general yardmaster and C. L. McCreary the yard conductor.

MOLDER TO TAKE BRIDE.

Next Wednesday evening, September 25, at 8 o'clock, will occur the marriage of L. C. Niemeyer and Miss Bertha Heinke, the ceremony to be held at the home of the bride's father, William Heinke, a retired farmer living at Bremen, Ind. Miss Nora Heinke, a sister of the bride, will be the bride's maid and Walter L. Niemeyer, clerk at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, a brother of the groom, will be the groom's man. L. C. Niemeyer is a molder at the Bass foundry and a number of his friends at those works, as well as elsewhere in the city, will attend the wedding. The bride and groom will take up their residence on East Pontiac street immediately following the wedding, Mr. Niemeyer having just completed a house which will be their home.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO HILLSDALE.

The Hillsdale fair, which has always been an attraction for people along the line of the Lake Shore road, promises to be a greater attraction this year. Acting upon advance information concerning the probable business of the line on that occasion, the Lake Shore operating officials have authorized the running of two special trains between Fort Wayne and Hillsdale, one on October 3 and the other on the 4th. These trains will leave Fort Wayne at 7:05 in the morning and returning leave Hillsdale at 5:45 in the evening and arrive here at 8:15. The fair opens Monday, September 30, and closes Friday, October 4.

A BARBER SHOP INCIDENT.

A strange incident occurred at the barber shop of C. P. Ehrman, on Broadway, last evening. There are three chairs in the shop. When all were empty, William Martin, of the Electric works, dropped in the shop and took the first chair. Before he had received a shave, Louis Martin, of the Boston Store, stepped in and took the second chair, and a moment later Christian Martin, also of the Electric works, took a seat in the third chair. These three men are brothers and neither knew of the presence of the others until attention was called to it by one of the barbers.

UNIFORM INSPECTION TRAIN.

The Lake Shore will send out over the Lansing division a special train carrying a number of officials who will inspect the agents and operators and their uniforms week after next. The inspectors will arrive here Monday afternoon, September 30, and leave the following morning for points along the division. Every operator has received notice of the coming of the inspection party and he is expected to be "togged" out according to the orders bearing on that subject or to give reason why he is not.

LAKE TRAIN SERVICE CONTINUES.

Agent Ray Phillips, of the Lake Shore, has been advised that the present Sunday service, two trains, together with the special rates to the lakes in the northern part of the state, will be continued throughout September, the last train running on the 29th.

The Cleveland papers say that the wreck of the Nickel Plate train No. 6 near Erie, Pa., a week or more ago is proving to be a very expensive affair to the company. While so far as known none were permanently injured in the accident, the claims department is having difficulty in settling with the injured, some of whom are well to do and not inclined to take the $200 or $300 offered in settlement of the claim. Costly suits, it is said, may arise.

William Hurley and Ray Christiansen, Conneaut, are being held on a charge of blackmail. It is alleged that posing as Lake Shore detectives they seized R. D. Smith, superintendent of a Sunday school at Conneaut and accused him of peeping into a Pullman car. They then demanded $50 to hold silence. A meeting was arranged for and police accompanied Smith. As the money was paid the police made the arrest. The young men claim "it was all a joke" but Smith fails to see the point.

GROSE ACCEPTS DEPAUW PLACE

Baltimore Pastor Will Be President of the University.

COMES IN OCTOBER

Indianapolis, Sept. 20.—Rev. George Richmond Grose, pastor of Grace M. E. church of Baltimore, has notified Hugh Daugherty, president of the DePauw university board of trustees, that he has accepted the presidency of DePauw. The invitation of Dr. Grose was offered unanimously by the board, and Mr. Daugherty was largely instrumental in persuading him to accept. Dr. Grose is expected to arrive at Greencastle in about thirty days.

A West Virginian by birth, Dr. Grose attended the public schools of that state and was graduated in 1894 from the Ohio Wesleyan university, where he was made a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He received his A. M. degree from that institution two years later and in that year was one of four honor graduates in a class of fifty at the Boston University of Theology, where he received the degree of doctor of sacred theology. He joined the New England Conference in April, 1896, and was appointed pastor in Cherry Valley.

The following year he was called to the First church, Jamaica Plain, where he spent three years in successful service, and in 1900 was invited to the pastorate of the First church in Newton. This society had a fine, new building, but was struggling with a burdensome debt of $26,000. In five years $18,000 of this debt was paid and the balance provided for.

Called to Larger Fields.

Though this church sought to retain Dr. Grose for a sixth year, calls to larger fields opened before him and he accepted the pastorate of the First church in Lynn, one of the oldest churches in New England, where he remained for three years and then went to his present charge in Baltimore.

Dr. Grose was married in 1894 to Lucy Dickerson of Cadiz, O., who was one of his classmates at Ohio Wesleyan at the time. They have three daughters and one son.

Dr. Grose is a member of the Twentieth Century club of Boston and the Eclectic club of Baltimore. For the last three years he has been a lecturer on religious subjects at Johns Hopkins university.

"The board of trustees was unanimously in favor of the invitation to Dr. Grose," said Mr. Daugherty, "and we are much delighted to get this message of his acceptance. He is a man of fine presence, broad sympathies and catholic spirit. His manner is cordial, intensely earnest, generous and brotherly. He is a preacher of unusual power. He will be a valuable addition to the faculty at DePauw."

Boys' suits, 5 to 18 years in brown, gray, blue and fancy mixtures, in Norfolk and double breasted, prices ranging from $2.00 to $18.00.

MOTHER HAS TO PAY $500 TO BUY BACK HER OWN BABY.

Can't Have Her Little Girl Till She Purchases Her Like a Slave in a Court of Law.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Mrs. Martha Mann has bought back her baby—actually paying $500 to feel again the tender handclasp of her own child.

But those five $100 bills were nothing compared with the daily heartaches she suffered during long years of separation. It happened like this:

Twelve years ago Mrs. Mann's first husband died. The widow was desperately poor—so stricken with want she could not provide for the laughing two-year-old baby Alma.

So she gave away Alma, through the juvenile court—and Alma became legally the little daughter of Mrs. A. L. McCarthy. Also she passed forever out of the life of her real mother—at least that is what the court said, for courts rear a great legal wall between mother and child when once they are thus separated.

But the mother knew differently. Alma still lived to her, vividly, in tearful memories and daily heart-hunger. She struggled on, and finally the wheel of life shifted. Love came to her. She met and married another man, a good man, a prosperous civil engineer on the Panama canal.

Even then, with love and a prosperous home, happines for her was not complete. She longed for the baby—hers no longer legally, but still her own flesh an blood, a very part of herself. She came back to Chicago seeking Alma.

For months she could learn nothing. The great legal barrier was in the way, you see. Finally mother love and detectives together traced Alma. The home into which she had been adopted was no longer prosperous. Alma needed her mother again, just as she had needed the foster mother years before. The wheel of life had swung completely around and in raising the real mother it had cast down the fortunes of the foster mother.

But the foster mother loved Alma, too. She wouldn't give her up. They arranged that Alma should go to an academy, where both might see her occasionally and correspond with her.

Still the mother-love was not satisfied. Mother wanted again, for her very own, the baby she had first cuddled close and warm against her breast. And the foster mother's love helped, too, in that final realization of the desire.

The dramatic climax of this story from real life came when both mothers appeared in court together and the judge gave Alma back again, legally, to her own mother as the latter placed five new $100 bills in the hands of the foster mother. Otherwise she couldn't have her.

ALMA, THE $500 GIRL.

The mother walked out of the court room with her arm about her daughter. The foster mother went more slowly, with hot, regretful tears blistering the paper money in her hands, her pay for twelve years of love and watchful care.

"It's awful to think of a mother actually having to buy back her own daughter, like a slave, in a court of law, isn't it?" asks Henry Neil.

Who is Neil. He's the man who has made it practically impossible for such a scene to happen again—in Illinois. Of course, it might happen any time in Indiana. It is now impossible in Illinois, because, since that $500 purchase a few months ago, a mother's pension law has gone into effect here. Neil was the father of that law.

The law provides that the children of a destitute but worthy mother shall not be taken from her. Instead, the judge awards her a modest little monthly pension, say, $7 or $8 a child, whatever is needed, to enable her to support those children at home, in addition to what she is able to earn herself. It saves the home. It stops a mother's heart from breaking. It gives real home children to the world. And it saves money, too, for a child so raised at home costs only one-third what it would cost the state and charitable folks to pay for its keep in an asylum.

$4,000 LABEL CAMPAIGN CLOSES NEXT WEEK

All Ballots Must Be Deposited Before 9 p. m. Sept. 28th---Big Extra Vote Offer.

In this issue is given the final weekly vote standing of all the contestants in the $4,000.00 label campaign, which was announced fifteen weeks ago. Because of the rush which will obtain in the contest office during practically all of next week no attempt will be made to compute the votes from day to day to arrange the standing in the paper.

Next Monday the contestants will find a ballot box at the contest office, into which all ballots must be placed as written. All the ballots that have been given during the contest must be in this ballot box before 9 o'clock Saturday night, Sept. 28, the closing hour of the campaign. No ballots other than those taken from this box by the contest judges will be counted for votes in the final counting.

From practically every side there have been given indications that prizes may easily be won by terrific efforts on the part of some of the contestants during the final week. Not a few of the organization workers have made extensive preparations for a big vote the last week and it will not be at all surprising if many of them gather more votes between now and the final day than they have turned in during the entire first fifteen weeks of the campaign.

Reports are coming to the contest office of the purchase of boxes of Rub-No-More Soap that will run into the hundreds. This is also true of many other products where families can take a supply, enough to last them for at least a month. In their eagerness to dispose of large quantities of those products which provide a big bonus vote the contestants have exhausted the supply in the city several times. For the closing days a large quantity has been provided and it is hoped that it will last out the campaign.

In order to get the labels to the contest office early in the week so that the names of the prize winners can be given promptly, 10 per cent. additional will be added to all bonuses on labels that are delivered not later than Wednesday at 6 o'clock. The usual bonuses will be given after that date, but this additional will only be given up to that time. Thus it will pay the committees in charge to see that all labels on hand are in the office at that time.

Final special vote offer closing Sept. 28, at 9 o'clock, the closing date of the campaign:

20 signatures Bursley's High Grade, 6,000 votes.

20 fronts Red Man and Red Horse, 20,000 votes.

4 bonds Gold Seal Cigars, buy by the box, 10,000 votes.

12 labels Sugar Loaf Corn, Peas, Baked Beans, Red Kidney, Hominy, etc., 10,000 votes.

100 Downing's Domestic Bread, 5,000 votes.

12 Olivilo Soap Wrappers, 10,000 votes.

2 San Toy Talcum and 1 Perfume or Toilet Water, save coupon, 10,000 votes.

12 Wrisley's Puritan Cleanser, save coupon, 10,000 votes.

3 Oloklen Dry Cleaner, save wrapper or name, 10,000 votes.

WATSON REPEATS HIS CHALLENGE

HITS AT DEMOCRATS

Defending the renomination of William Howard Taft for the presidency and ridiculing the Roosevelt third party boom throughout the country, James E. Watson Thursday evening opened the republican speaking campaign in the Twelfth congressional district when he addressed an audience of enthusiastic republicans at the mass meeting held at Princess rink.

Repeating his challenge made at the district convention held at Kendallville, Mr. Watson again proclaimed the honesty of Mr. Taft's nomination and extended an invitation to any man from Roosevelt down to meet him in joint debate on the subject of the Chicago national convention. While attempting to pull to shreds the platform of the progressives, Mr. Watson paused long enough to attack the democratic party for its attitude on the tariff issue, and the republicans present yelled themselves hoarse under the spell of his eloquent oratory.

Mr. Watson charged that when Roosevelt was made president there were only a few trusts in existence, while during his administration they multiplied and multiplied. He added that it was left to President Taft to bring prosecutions against these unlawful combines.

"When was it that Mr. Roosevelt learned that the republican party was boss-ridden, a hotbed of thieves, pickpockets and porch climbers? He was ready to accept the nomination from the 'boss-ridden' party and it seems that since he was unable to win the coveted place he has discovered in some mysterious manner all of this corruption."

Glad to Get Back.

Speaking to the bull moosers who chanced to be in the audience, Mr. Watson declared that they can point to no real reason why they left the republican party, and edded that they would be glad to come back before many weeks.

"It is true that every man could not be given a postoffice, and any party that remains in power for sixteen years cannot avoid accumulating difficulties along this line."

Mr. Watson devoted considerable time to the discussion of the national convention contests. He closed by declaring that farmers who until now have earnestly expounded the doctrines of Colonel Roosevelt are rapidly coming back to the regular ranks. He also commended Charles R. Lane to the people of this district as a congressional candidate.

The Tariff Question.

Mr. Watson, discussing the tariff, said it was the prominent issue of the campaign. He explained clearly and forcefully the difference in the position of those who believed in a protective tariff and those who believed in a tariff for revenue only, pointing out that it has always been the policy of the republican party, in fixing the tariff, to protect the interests of the man who from day to day sell his only asset, his muscle and brawn. He said that the republican party believes that if the laboring man is properly protected in what he has to sell the consumer will take care of himself and, believing in this policy, the republican party has always endeavored to enact a tariff which would bring about such protection and be fair and just to all.

He pointed out that if it were not for this protective policy of the republican party the laborer in this country of high wages would be reduced to the conditions of the laborer in foreign countries where wages are low. Things are cheap or expensive, said Mr. Watson, according to the ability of a person to buy. If a person has no employment and no money, things which may seem cheap are expensive because he has not the money with which to purchase them. On the other hand if people have plenty of money, things are cheap, even though the price is much higher than it was during hard times when people had no money. The high cost of living involves this fact, for cheapness or expensiveness depends upon the person having money with which to make the purchase. Samuel Gompers, the speaker said, after investigating conditions in London, declared that the American laboring man is by far in better condition than the laboring man abroad and that in America the laboring man enjoys the best conditions of any country in the world.

Favors Protection.

Mr. Watson said that the republican policy of protection means that a tariff upon goods brought into this country should be equal to the difference in the cost of labor at home and abroad. The experience of the past year has demonstrated that in some instances the tariff has been too high and as a result unprincipled, selfish men have taken advantage of this protection to build monopolies which have been inimicable to the best interests of the people. To prevent just this thing the republicans advocate a tariff board which shall go into the difference of cost of production at home and abroad in a thoroughly scientific and entirely correct manner. The ascertaining of these facts by a tariff board would enable the forming of a tariff measure which would be equitable and just.

Opponents of the protective tariff argue that they should be permitted to buy whatever they can buy cheapest and that the protective tariff does not permit foreign-made goods to come into this country with that freedom which would result from a tariff for revenue only. Mr. Watson showed the unfairness of this argument in the figures of exports and imports, both of which have increased under the protective policy of the republican party.

Mr. Lane Speaks.

Dr. C. B. Stemen presided at the meeting, and after a brief talk introduced Charles R. Lane, republican nominee for congress from the Twelfth district.

Mr. Lane stated that he desired to show the difference between a poor speaker and a good one, as would be noted in comparison of the remarks made by him and by Mr. Watson. He told the progressive republicans present that they will gladly be welcomed back to the regular party. He pointed out that prejudice had entered into the present campaign, and advocated President Taft's stand on a permanent tariff commission. He closed by eulogizing Mr. Watson.

Milady's Toilet Table

By Mme. D'Mille.

"To darken eyebrows and to make them grow heavier and more even, apply plain pyroxin with the finger tips. Brush them daily and they can be easily trained into well-formed arches. Massage the eyelash roots gently with pyroxin and the lashes will grow long and lovely.

"To remove superfluous hair, cover the surface with a paste made of delatone and water, permit to remain two minutes, remove and wash the skin with warm water. This treatment is quick, safe and painless.

"Washing the head dulls and streaks the hair. Too much moisture causes the roots to lose their vitality. Dry shampooing cleans the scalp, vitalizes the hair, and leaves it wavy, fluffy and beautifully lustrous. To make a six months' supply of the best shampoo powder, mix four ounces of orris root with a package of genuine therox.

"For their smooth and satin like complexions, Japanese women depend upon a lotion made by dissolving a package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel. It removes tan, sunburn and blemishes and prevents the growth of hair. No powder is necessary."

TINIEST COUPLE IN TINIEST HOME AWAIT TINIEST BABY.

MR. AND MRS. JAM ES M. BURNETT.

Bristol, Tenn., Sept. 17.—The tiniest couple in the United States, living in the tiniest home, are anxiously awaiting the coming of the tiniest baby. That's "Jimmie" Burnett and Mrs. "Jimmie."

"Jimmie" is so fussed up at the prospect of having an heir that he's neglecting his store and his lodges, too. When you say that Jimmie is skipping lodge nights you are saying a lot, for Jimmie, being the smallest Master Mason and the smallest Odd Fellow in America, takes the largest interest in the doings at lodge meetings.

He is only 43 inches from the ground up, and his wife towers over him a full inch and a half. Their romantic courtship and elopement four years ago still stands as the record for nerve in the Lochinvar stunts in the sunny southland.

Jimmie's picture—in his dress parade uniform of the Odd Fellow fraternity—attracted the attention of Miss Lou Nabors, of Baldwin, Miss. She wrote to Burnett and sent him her photograph, which immediately resulted in Jimmie buying a railroad ticket to Mississippi and "Little Lou." Naturally the elopement and marriage followed.

Now the little folks in their little house furnished with doll-like chairs and tables, are looking forward to the coming of a tiny wee bit of a guest.

Burnett comes from a family of midgets. His father and his brothers and sisters are small, so the family doctor is expecting the stork to bring to the Burnett home about the smallest baby that ever made a proud papa tote it over miles of carpet tacks in the wee sma' hours of the morn. But Jimmie doesn't gave a hang about the carpet tacks. He's even willing to cut the gold buttons off his uniform for the baby to play with!

An Everyday View of the Next Sunday School Lesson

By RICHARD S. HOLMES, in The Continent.

Lesson for September 29, 1912.—Review.

Golden text, ohn 6:63: "The words that I have spoken unto you are spirit, and are life."

I. Here are suggested various pictures that can be made from the lessons of the quarter. Let the teacher give the suggesting words, and then draw from the members of the class the details, and the lesson to which the picture belongs. Beelzebub. Thirty fold. Mustard seed. Grow together. A net. A storm. A timid woman. Jesus reads alound. A prison. Twelve preachers. Chorazin. Five loaves.

Some Questions to Be Answered in Reviewing the Quarter's Lessons.

II. Tests of pupils' understanding of lessons:

1. Why did the scribes from Jerusalem hate Jesus?
2. Why did his mother and brothers seek him?
3. Why was not all the seed sown by a sower in Christ's time productive?
4. How were the mustard seed and the tree that grew from it symbolic of the kingdom of heaven?
5. What is the law of growing grain?
6. Why are the good and the bad allowed to live together in this world?
7. In what ways is the church of today like a net?
8. When the bad fish have been thrown away, are they ever afterwards picked up again and made good?
9. How was the storm on the lake like the life storms through which human souls pass?
10. Is the spirit shown by the owners of the swine that ran into the lake to be seen now?
11. Why did Jesus make the timid woman confess what she had done?
12. How did the faith of Jairus and that of the timid woman differ?
13. Do any people now laugh Jesus to scorn? Who are they? Are you one of them?
14. Why were the people of Nazareth angry at the address of Jesus in their synagogue?
15. What caused the death of John the Baptist?
16. Which is the better—to die for truth, or to lie for life? Why?
17. What was the effect of all this on Herod?
18. What is conscience?
19. There were three men among the first twelve preachers sent out who were of entirely different characters from each other—John, Peter and Judas Iscariot. How did they differ?
20. Will there be different degrees of reward and punishment at the judgment?
21. Are miracles necessary now to save souls? Did feeding five thousand in the desert place save all their souls? Did it save any?
22. How did some of those very people act in Capernaum next day?

Some Tests to Show How Well Lessons Are Remembered.

III. Memory tests.

Give ten different characteristics of the kingdom of God given by Jesus in four lessons of last quarter.

Give the characteristics of five different sets of people mentioned in lessons 1, 6, 7, 8 and 9.

Mention twelve persons who are spoken of by name in these lessons.

Give the names of eight cities that are mentioned, and tell in what lesson they are found.

To what different things did Jesus liker the kingdom of heaven?

Twelve Great Practical Lessons Taught During the Quarter's Study.

IV. Twelve great practical lessons:

There is no one, no matter how humble, whom Jesus does not regard as one of his own family, and as dear to him as mother, sister or brother, provided such humble one does the will of the Father who is in heaven.

There are as many kinds of hearts as there are various sorts of soil. Many a Christian neglects his heart until the world, the flesh and the devil have filled it with thorn roots, destroying all hope for ripened grain.

The kingdom of heaven in a human heart begins as does a plant. First the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear.

Almost every man has his enemy. Often he does not know him. The first intimation he receives may be in baleful effects in his life. He is wise, however, who never hunts for his enemy, but waits for the hour when without harming the good in himself he may destroy the evil.

There are many things to be obtained in this world, but none can be compared with the pearl of great price.

When men cannot bring to Christ a sinner whom he wants to save, he goes after him himself, and having saved him, sends the man to tell others how great things the Lord hath done for him.

The only price that Jesus seems to wish sinful souls to pay for his gracious, healing power is confession.

Nazareth rejected Jesus. After it tried to cast him from the brow of the hill on which the city was built he never returned. There is a hill-brow in many a heart. At its edge Jesus and the soul part company forever.

The man who tries to kill conscience finds himself some day face to face with a foe who is armed with stings that pierce and torture. Herod proved it.

Judas Iscariot preached with the twelve, listened to the tempter lurking in the bag he carried, and was ruined. Even godless men have only execrations for him. "Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall."

God makes saints out of saved sinners.

The disciples knew they could do nothing with five loaves, if with them they tried to feed five thousand. Because they could not, they made the mistake of thinking Christ could not. We are like them still.

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH

A Harmless Remedy, Made from Garden Sage, Restores Color to Gray Hair.

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs which unfortunately are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hair, however handsome it may be, makes a person look old. We all know the advantages of being young. Aside from the good impression a youthful appearance makes on others, simply knowing that you are "looking fit" gives one courage to undertake and accomplish things. So why suffer the handicap of looking old on account of gray hairs, when a simple remedy will give your hair youthful color and beauty in a few days' time?

Most people know that common garden sage acts as a color restorer and scalp tonic as well. Our grandmothers used a "Sage Tea" for keeping their hair dark, soft and luxuriant. In Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy we have an ideal preparation of Sage, combined with Sulphur and other valuable remedies for dandruff, itching scalp and thin, weak hair that is split at the ends or constantly coming out. A few applications of this valuable remedy will bring back the color, and in a short time it will remove every trace of dandruff and greatly improve the growth and appearance of the hair.

Get a fifty cent bottle from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' treatment. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

SAYS GOOD PIES MAKE HAPPY HOME

Champion Pie-Baker of Minnesota Talks, and She Ought to Know.

TELLS HOW IT'S DONE

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 20.—If women had pie clubs along with their literary and art clubs and all of them would learn to make thick, juicy pies with tender crusts, domestic entanglements would be so few that the divorce courts would have to go out of business, in the opinion of Mrs. V. A. Eddy, No. 2211 Oliver avenue north, champion piemaker of Minnesota and past champion of Wisconsin and South Dakota.

Most men will give up a night at the club or a cafe dinner if there is a good pie at home. Mrs. Eddy says, and she advises all young women to learn to make a pie.

Mrs. Eddy's statements were borne out by dozens of Minnesota men at the state fair when they called at the women's building and asked to buy some of the prize-winning pies.

Mrs. Eddy won three of the six possible first prizes offered by state fair management. For five years she has been capturing a majority of these prizes and before moving to Minnesota she won the prizes for several years at the Wisconsin and South Dakota state fairs. It's just a habit with her now.

While the pie champion is modest about her achievements, she is no secretive about her methods, and is willing to tell any one how the pies are made.

"It doesn't make much difference what the pies are made of so long as the fruit used is of the best quality and the other ingredients pure and wholesome," she said. "If the pie has the right amount of sugar, a tender crust and the flavor of real home-prepared fruit, all the men and most of the women will eat it and ask for more. Some women make pies without following any particular recipe, and then they say it's bad luck if the pie doesn't come out right. The trouble is the pie doesn't go in right. If it goes in the oven right and the oven is right at the same time, it will come out all right. There isn't any luck about it."

Mrs. Eddy won first prizes for her apple, blueberry and pumpkin pies, and she gives the recipes for the three winners:

Apple pie—Fill the crust full of sliced Duchess apples and use a cup of sugar for every six apples. Put on the top crust and bake it. That is all there is to the apple pie, and there is no flavoring, but it must be done that way.

Blueberry pie—One quart of blueberries and three-fourths of a cup of sugar make the filling for the pie.

Pumpkin pie—One cup of stewed pumpkin, one cup of milk, one-half cup of sugar, two well-beaten eggs, butter size of a walnut, one-fourth teaspoon of cinnamon, a pinch of allspice and cloves and a half teaspoon of ginger.

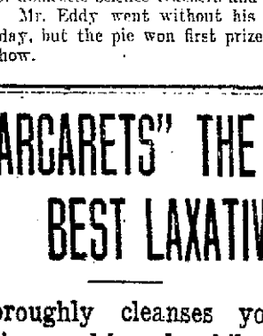
TRADITION



¶ Tradition may serve all right as a mile post, but it is no good as a guide post. It is faced toward the past. It never leads and never advances.

¶ Tradition has been defined as "Salvation through ossification, a fetter for the foolish, a clock that tells what time it WAS, a method of holding back the many while some one does the thing which they declared impossible."

¶ This bank has no traditions. It is not a bank of yesterday, but a bank of today and tomorrow. It is a growing bank, but unlike growing potatoes the best part of it is not underground. It is not a "has been," it is an issue.

¶ It has a savings department where 3 per cent is paid on book accounts.

THOMPSON WHITE.

Thompson White of Stockton, Cal., recently celebrated his one hundredth birthday anniversary.

The centenarian gave a birthday party and it is safe to say that no one enjoyed the occasion more than he. His century of existence finds him hale and hearty and enjoying life as much as a youngster.

Thompson White was born in Glasgow, Scotland, August 19, 1812. He went to Canada in 1838 and remained in the Dominion ten years, when he moved to New York city. In 1848 he left New York for California, and for twenty years worked for a steamship company in San Francisco. He also farmed in the vicinity of Napa. He has been a resident of Stockton for the last twenty years.

In 1815 he saw the soldiers returning from the war with France, and liked to talk of the battle of Waterloo.

INDIANS TO HOLD OWN COUNTY FAIR

Noble Red Man Proposes to Demonstrate He is Coming Up.

NOW EXPERT FARMER

Butte, Mont., Sept. 20.—A striking era in the evolution of the American Indian will be marked on the Fort Peck reservation, in Montana, October 1 next, when the first county fair ever held by Indians will open. At this unique agricultural exposition there will be exhibited some unusual specimens of grain and grasses, which later in the season will be entered at eastern land shows in competition with the prize products of the white man.

The white man has always laughed at the idea of civilizing Indians, but the primer lesson in agriculture given the Sioux tribes has worked a remarkable transformation scene in the lives of these red men on the Fort Peck reservation. Last year Louis Hill, chairman of the Great Northern railway board of directors, sent a representative body of these Indians from the Montana prairie to the New York land show. Inasmuch as the Indians were about to have their lands opened to the white man for settlement, Mr. Hill felt sorry for the crude children of nature and decided upon a novel experiment in their behalf. He figured, according to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, that if these people were destined, without consent, to become farmers, they should receive some instruction in the agricultural methods of the whites.

Picked Intelligent Ones.

The railway chief thereupon picked the most intelligent members of the tribe and gained the approval of the interior department at Washington to send them to the New York land show. The result was that the Indians went back to their Montana tepees imbued with the idea of tilling the soil and producing all of the wonderful products which they saw exhibited at Madison Square Garden.

"The figures are rather surprising to some people," said Mr. Hill, "for they show that since these Indians returned from the New York land show last winter there has been more than twice as many acres cultivated on the Fort Peck reservation as were planted last year. It simply goes to show that almost anybody will improve their condition if they get a helping hand in the right direction."

The Indians are elated over the progress they already have made in agriculture as the result of the stimulus which their chief gave to the tribe on returning from the big land show of the white man in New York. The entire tribe is arranging with great enthusiasm for the fair. It will open at Poplar, Mont., and last five days.

In connection with the agricultural fair there will be a big Indian gathering just outside the agency town. The Sioux then will hold their tribal dances and go through their picturesque ceremonies for several days.

Indians to Play Football.

There will be a football game between the Pegan tribe, from the Rocky mountains, on the Blackfeet reservation, and the Mandan tribe, of the Fort Peck reservation, the winners to challenge the University of Minnesota football team. Many of the players of the famous Carlisle football team came from these two tribes, but never before has such football interest been shown by either tribe as in the preparation for this contest, which is to be fought out October 2 within the magic circle of tepees that will be stretched for half a mile in diameter on the level prairie just outside the little fringe of houses called Poplar, Mont. The throng of spectators will include 3,000 Indians attired in their brilliant colors.

The opening of Fort Peck reservation in October next will mark the last big opening of agricultural land in the United States. Six new towns will be started on this big land area.

The total acreage of the reservation is 2,668,693. The land allotted to the Indians is 723,693 acres. The land that is thus left vacant and is soon to be opened for settlement covers 1,345,000 acres.

Land now under cultivation is 3,800 acres. Last year there were only 1,500 acres under cultivation, and the year before practically none.

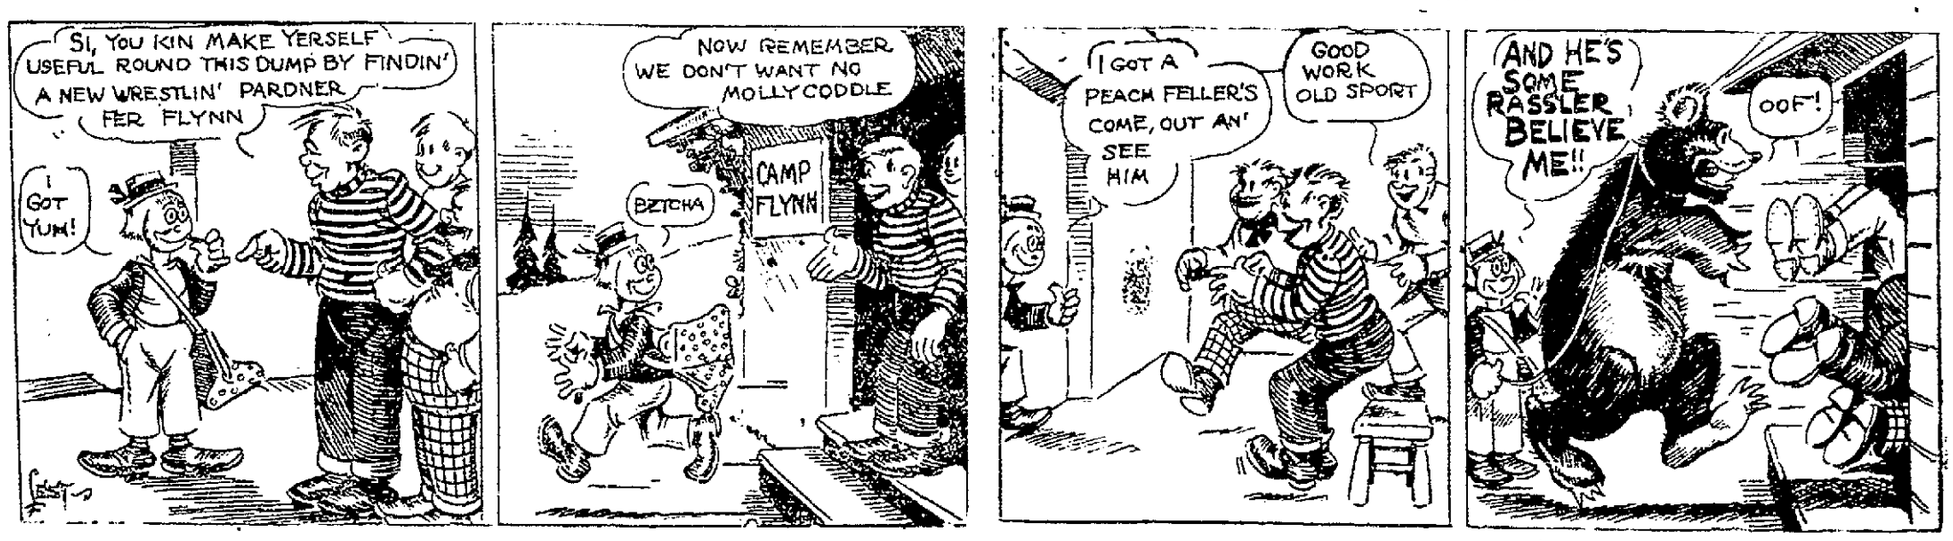
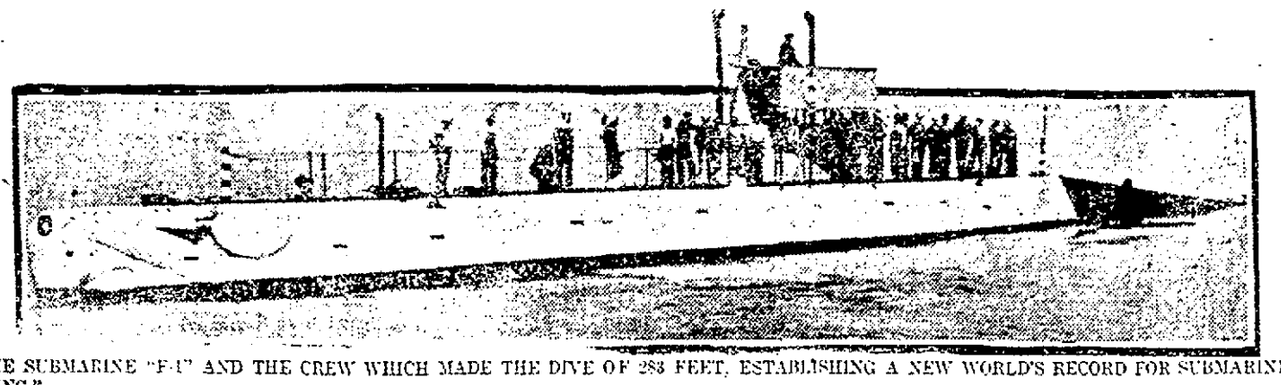
GRIPSACK SI SEZ: "BE YOU LOOKIN' FUR A RASSLER? THE WOODS ARE FULL OF 'EM?



MEN BRAVED DEATH 283 FEET BENEATH SURFACE OF SEA TO SET NEW WORLD'S RECORD FOR SUBMARINE.



THE SUBMARINE "F-1" AND THE CREW WHICH MADE THE DIVE OF 283 FEET, ESTABLISHING A NEW WORLD'S RECORD FOR SUBMARINE "GLIDING."

Twenty-four of Uncle Sam's sailors laughed defiance at death recently when for six hours they descended beneath the waters of San Francisco bay to a depth never before attained by human beings who survived to tell the tale.

The diving record formerly held by the submarine Seal, and attained off Nantucket Light last May, when the craft went down 256 feet, was shattered when the submarine F-1, manned by Lieut. James B. Howell and crew of 23 men, dove down to a depth of 283 feet.

The 125 pounds of pressure of each square inch of hull caused the water to spurt into the interior of the shell through different joints in tiny streams, while the sides of the hull were squeezed together until the deck was forced upwards in a decided curve.

The story of the feat was told by one of the crew describing the submarine cruise:

Day after day Lieut. Howell and the 18 regular men of the crew have speeded over and under the water of San Francisco bay while giving the craft the severest tests possible.

"The day of the record dive we headed toward the sea and descended until only the two slender periscopes were above the water. The little mirror reflectors threw into the interior an exact photograph of the vast expanse of bay, so it was a simplet matter to shift the rudders and avoid a collision.

"When we neared the ferry fairway there were three commuter-laden steamers directly ahead of us. A single word or two from our commander and the F-1, deflected by the horizontal planes and propelled by the electric engines, shot toward the bay bottom until 60 feet intervened between our conning tower and the surface of the bay.

"As we passed beneath the ferry steamers, the vibration of the surface boats' propellers could be distinctly heard by the man at the submarine telephone.

"As our commander gave the order which would again take us to the unknown depths below, even the rawest recruit could notice that something was about to happen out of the ordinary.

"When the pressure gauge showed a depth of 200 feet Lieut. Howell showed no sign of stopping our downward progress. If there is anything that wins the respect of an officer's command it is an exhibition like that of our commander at that time.

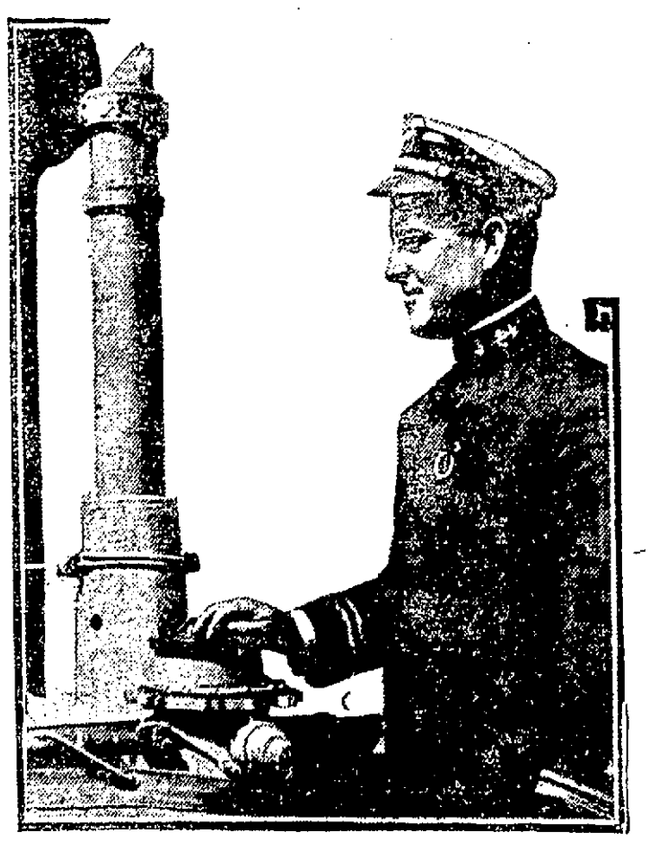
"Slowly, but surely, the hand of the gauge indicated an increasing depth. We had reached a depth of 280 feet when a number of snappy reports not unlike the explosion of small pistols were heard. The tremendous pressure of the water began to effect even the stanch construction of the F-1.

"At the same time it was noticed that the water was beginning to leak into the craft at some of the joints. This was first noticed at the combing of the torpedo hatch.

"Every regular man breathing the bottled atmosphere of the stifling interior knew what this meant. So did the commander, for after we had gone down another three feet, we went forward on the level, each eye in the meantime looking anxiously and nervously toward the little rivulets of water which streamed in.

"That we had reached the limit of the depth test became apparent just then, when slowly and almost imperceptibly the deck upon which we stood began to curve upward, forming an arch in the center. This was caused by the pressure of the sea against the sides of the boat.

"Then after ten minutes of suspense we began to forge rapidly toward the surface until we had but 60 feet separating us from the surface and freedom."



LIEUT. JAMES B. HOWELL, U. S. N., SKIPPER OF THE SUBMARINE "F-1," STANDING AT THE HELM ON THE BRIDGE. THE SLENDER PIPE BEHIND HIM IS THE PERISCOPE THROUGH WHICH A VIEW OF THE SURFACE OF THE SEA IS PROJECTED INTO THE INTERIOR OF THE VESSEL TO THE OFFICER AT THE HELM WHEN THE BOAT IS SUBMERGED.

SOCIETY IN WAR ON FREAK DANCES

Chicago Fortifies Itself Against Repetition of Risque Revels.

MANY UNDER THE BAN

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Chicago society is fortifying itself against a repetition of last year's revel of "freak" dances. The galloping "horse trot," the sinuous "grizzly bear," the wriggling "turkey trot" and its sister, the "bunny hug," together with all the other "whirly gig" and "wiggle" dances are under the ban.

With the opening of the dancing season, entertainment committees of the Onwentsin Country club, the South Shore Country club and practically all others of the more elite of clubs, have issued stern edicts against dances which savor of the vulgar. This season the dancers will have to content themselves with the waltz and two-step or some of their modifications.

Risque Dances Recalled.

Last year risque dances were not infrequent at the South Shore Country club, the older dancing contingent participating. Members of the younger set on the north shore met fortnightly in Mrs. Ruth Coffin Collins' studio, 721 Lincoln parkway, where they practiced the "bunny hug" and "grizzly bear" freaks. But even this "quiet" dabbling in the out-of-the-ordinary dances is to be prohibited.

"The immodest dances must go," Eames MacVeagh declared yesterday, thus taking the same stand as Preston Gibson of Newport and Washington, who has declared society at the capital will not get a chance to dance the "freaks" this winter. "Such dances are spectacles of vulgarity, not real dances. They are not only vulgar, but injurious."

Arthur Meeker and Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor have like convictions which they are not slow in expressing. Mrs. Orson Smith, Mrs. Cyrus McCormick, Mrs. Will A. Lyford and others of the social set are emphatic in their support to the crusade.

Dancing Masters Lend Aid.

Not only is the crusade to be carried on in the clubs against the "grizzly bear" and "bunny hug" class of dances, but dancing masters are falling into line with refusals to teach pupils the fads. They are extending their course of instruction to include the "Boston," which has been criticised more or less as a "whirly gig."

"Last year was the worst in Chicago's dancing history," said A. E. Bournique, who teaches South Side scions of wealthy families the terpsichorean art, yesterday. "The 'bunny hug,' 'grizzly bear' and 'turkey trot' were danced with abandon. Such dances are a disgrace. Their names are enough alone to condemn them.

"But Chicago isn't going to see the freak dances this season. They will be danced only under cover. Even the 'Boston' will be short of its 'whirly gig' tendencies. The long-step 'Boston' is the only variety of the dance that will survive. All vulgarity will be eliminated this season because Chicago society is becoming saner in its search for amusement.

FACE POWDER IS TABOOED.

"Hello" Girls Must Not Eliminate Shiny Noses While on Duty.

Washington, Sept. 20.—"Hello" maids are so adept in the joint art of powdering their dainty noses and answering calls on the wire that it has now become necessary for the telephone company managers to issue orders against the application of white or flesh-colored dust to nasal extremities. Dispatches from Flushing, L. I., telling of how the "Hello" girls at the telephone exchange of that place have been forbidden to powder their noses, brought the following remarks on the order from the local telephone officials: "Our girls evidently know how to do both the powdering and operation of the switch boards well," said he. "We have received no complaint to the effect that the powdering of noses had interfered with girls doing duty on the wire. Hence we have issued no orders against our girls applying perfumed dust to eliminate the shine."

According to the contractors, the new addition to the Anthony hotel will be completed and ready for occupancy by December.

"Blind Tiger" Operator Sentenced to 450 Days in Jail.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 20.—Four hundred and fifty days in jail is the sentence given Joseph Randolph, found guilty of running a "blind tiger." Randolph, who has before faced similar charges, after being found guilty, said to the court: "You might as well make my fine $1,000. It will do you as much good, because you won't get a cent, anyway." This remark and his previous record caused the court to assess the limit of punishment.

RETURNS HOME; FAMILY GONE.

Muncie Officers Send Man to Indianapolis to Find Friends.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 20.—After being absent from home nineteen years, having left rather than disgrace his family by his habit of drinking, George Winters, 78 years old, returned to Muncie to learn that all of his relatives have left the city. He told the police that he quit the use of liquor twelve years ago. He was assisted to Indianapolis, where he has friends.

NEGRO HURLED A ROCK.

Resented Slighting Remark About Jack Johnson's Wife.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 20.—Slighting remarks concerning Jack Johnson's white wife, who committed suicide recently, were responsible for an assault yesterday which caused Andrew Judy to be sent home in a serious condition. He was struck in the side with a heavy rock, which fractured two of his ribs. The attack occurred at the American foundry, where Judy is employed. The rock was hurled by an unidentified negro who became angry at Judy's remarks about the dead woman.

SHOT TWICE BY FRIEND.

Mysterious Affair at New Castle Causes Death of Edward Hines.

New Castle, Ind., Sept. 20.—Edward Hines, 34, was shot twice by a friend, Carl Nicholson, last night, and died a few hours later. The shooting occurred in the saloon of James Banks. The two men had been drinking, it is said, but were on the best of terms. They entered the Banks saloon and walked to the rear end of the building where a minute later three shots were heard. Nicholson made no attempt to escape and surrendered to Chief of Police Bouslog. Hines before expiring stated that as soon as he and Nicholson reached the rear of the saloon Nicholson pulled the revolver and began shooting. He said that there was no cause for the assault. At the county jail Nicholson stated that the shooting was accidental and that it occurred when he attempted to show the gun to Hines.

Richmond, Ind., Sept. 20.—A. C. Lindemuth, attorney for the Charter Oak Handle company, of Richmond, has announced that Joseph Greenstreet, of New Castle, had made full settlement with the company. At that time Greenstreet declared he would settle all differences with his former associates if presented to him. According to Attorney Lindemuth the settlement was a compromise, Greenstreet paying something in excess of $2,500.

ASPHALT REPAIR PLANT OPENS UP

First Work Done on West Berry Street Today by New City Gang.

TESTING OF CAPACITY

The first repair work done since the installation of the new city asphalt plant was taken up on West Berry street today for testing out the capacity and possibilities of the new department and for a few days it will be watched carefully by the members of the board of public works and the mayor to ascertain just what may be expected of it.

It was found a bit difficult today to get hold of experienced help and a green gang was put on which will retard the work until the men have learned the deltails of putting on patches. The most difficult task has been to mark out the space for the patches to apply the cement so that the new asphalt will stick.

Material arrived a few days ago and the asphalt has been heating slowly since and today it was pronounced ready to be used.

Board of Works Routine.

At the regular meeting of the board of public works last night contracts with the Grace Construction company for work awarded it several days ago were ratified. Some of the work will be held over until next spring. It is proposed to finish up Fairfield avenue this fall and allow Heustis, Taber and Lincoln to go over until 1913.

Action on opening Packard avenue, from Indiana to Beaver, was rescinded, and a new assessment roll ordered.

Assessment rolls were confirmed for pavement on Harrison street, Main to Superior, and cement sidewalks on both sides of Fourth street, Calhoun to Sherman.

Building Inspector Wyss reported that during the past month 88 building permits were issued, yielding $120.

The Brooks Construction company reported the paving of Canal street completed and an assessment roll was ordered.

VICTIMS OF FRAME-UP.

Delphos Band Claims Unfair Methods at Hicksville Contest.

Delphos, Ohio, Sept. 20.—The People's band went to Hicksville Wednesday to compete in the band tournament held at that place. They failed to carry off any of the prize money, but under the circumstances it seems as if they were entitled to second money. The Auburn and Napoleon bands tied for first place and instead of taking the three hundred dollars for first prize and dividing it, they framed up a deal wherein they secured both first and second money, leaving the Delphos boys, who ranked next, holding the sack.

RACING MARE DEAD.

In Her Palmy Days Had a Race Record of 2:10.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 20.—Rosebud, the little pacing mare owned by Al Crisler, was found dead in the stable at the Lake farm near Como this week. The mare in her palmy days established a race record of 2:14¼ and in numerous races in which she was entered had gone many a mile in 2:10. Last spring the mare was trained by Lew Swathwood to give exhibitions of speed at county fairs and other race meets without the guidance of a driver. Swathwood arrived home Thursday forenoon from Troy, O., and when apprised by Crisler that the animal was dead, could not suppress the tears from his eyes. He had driven the mare to victory in many races. The dead animal was past sixteen years old.

Friends warned him not to respond to the message, but he did so with the result that he was shot down and instantly killed. It is believed that he was killed by a negress and the police of the Oklahoma city are working on clews which it is believed will result in the capture of the murderer.

Why Women Are Not RICH.

Man is a millionaire many times over in the possession of blood cells. Woman is not quite so rich, for scientists have proven that the normal man has five million—the woman only four and a half million to a cubic millimetre of blood.

A decrease in number of red blood corpuscles and a person "looks pale"—in fact, is anaemic, the blood does not get the right food and probably the stomach is disordered.

Dr. R. V. Pierce found years ago that a glyceric extract of golden seal and Oregon grape roots, queen's root and bloodroot with black cherrybark, would help the assimilation of the food in the stomach, correct liver ills and in Nature's own way increase the red blood corpuscles. This medicine he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By assimilating the food eaten the system is nourished and the blood takes on a rich red color. Nervousness is only "the cry of the starved nerves for food," and when the nerves are fed on rich red blood the person looses those irritable feelings, sleeps well at night and is refreshed in the morning.

J. D. LIVELY, ESQ.

"I was attacked with a severe nervous disease, which was caused by a disordered stomach and liver," writes MR. JAS. D. LIVELY, of Washburn, Tenn., Route 2, Box 33. "All my friends thought I would die and the best physicians gave me up. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and derived much benefit from same. My case had run so long, it had become so chronic that nothing would effect a permanent cure, but Dr. Pierce's medicine has done much for me and I highly recommend it. I heartily advise its use as a spring tonic, and further advise ailing people to take Dr. Pierce's medicines before their diseases have run so long that there is no chance to be cured.

All Sores Are Not Cancerous

While all Old Sores are not cancerous in their nature, every slow healing ulcer shows a degenerated condition of the blood. Virulent impurities in the circulation produce angry, discharging ulcers, while milder and more inert germs are usually manifested in the form of indolent sores or dry, scabby places. Efforts to heal an old sore with external applications always result in failure because such treatment does not reach the blood. S. S. S. heals old sores of every nature by purifying the blood. It goes to the fountain-head of the trouble and drives out the germ-producing poisons and morbid impurities which prevent the place from healing. Then a stream of rich, nourishing blood, which S. S. S. creates, causes a perfect and natural knitting together of all flesh fibres, making a thorough and permanent cure. The sore does not "come back" when S. S. S. has made a cure, because its source has been destroyed. Book on sores and ulcers and medical advice free.

THIS FARM LIES IN CITY'S HEART

Pigs, Ducks, Chickens and Lamb Wander About Place in Chicago.

THEY THRIVE THERE

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Within walking distance of the city hall, almost within the confines of the loop, is a really and truly farm. It is at 1140 Wabash avenue.

Any one desiring to see the old scenes, to feed the hogs, to pet the woolly lamb, to hunt eggs, and all that, need not pay car fare out beyond the Des Plaines river, for all those things may be had right downtown.

The owner is L. F. Heintz. The farmer, or proprietor, is A. M. Cope, who divides his time between breaking eggs into a hot pan in a restaurant next door and attending to the live stock on the farm.

The farm has a body of water in the middle of it. Speaking in proportion to the rest of the property, it would be called a lake. The farm being confined to a city lot, however, it must be termed a mud puddle, the lounging place of three fat hogs.

Seventy-five ducks also are enabled to take a plunge into the puddle, or pond, from time to time, while a similar number of chickens look on enviously. Then the only single lamb looks lonely and "bahs" to the elevated trains for company. There is a shanty where everybody except the ducks goes when it rains.

"Look at those fat hogs," said Cope. "They get a special kind of buttermilk. They also get sour milk, stale bread and other luxuries. I can raise anything on this place, even if they do call it a 'two-by-four' farm."

WHERE ARE THE ORIGINAL TEN COMMANDMENTS?

ARK OF THE COVENANT AND TABLES OF THE LAW GIVEN BY GOD TO MOSES ARE SAID TO BE PRESERVED IN ANCIENT CITY OF AXUM, AND WORSHIPPED SECRETLY.

Mystery of 3,000 Years Explained by Strange Old Abyssinian "Bible," Which Tells Story of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba.

Where are the tablets of stone upon which Jehovah carved the law for the Jewish people, amid the lightnings of Sinai?

Maybe you think one might as well ask, "Where is the rod that turned to a serpent in Aaron's hands?"

And yet, a recent discovery makes it appear that these ancient tablets, the most famous documents the world has ever seen are still preserved.

They are said to be hidden in a cathedral in the ancient city of Axum, in the Abyssinian province of Tigre.

The story of their removal from Jerusalem and their preservation by the Abyssinians is one of the strangest tales ever told.

The Abyssinians have long maintained that they possessed the authentic Arc of the Covenant, containing the tables of the law. This claim has now been strengthened by the translation into English, for the first time, of the sacred scriptures of Abyssinia, the "Fetha Negast," or "Glory of Kings," written in a language so old that only a few of the most learned Abyssinian priests can read it.

This wonderful Bible, of which there is but one copy, not only tells of the bringing of the arc of the covenant and tables of the law from Jerusalem to Abyssinia, but attributes the founding of the royal line of Abyssinian kings to King Solomon himself, through the "Queen of Sheba."

Here, briefly, is the ancient story of the theft of the tables of the law:

Magda, queen of Sheba (later called Ethiopia and Abyssinia), had gone to Jerusalem, as the Hebrew scriptures tell, to see the glory and hear the wisdom of Solomon. She abode in Jerusalem six months, talking with him daily and seeing his wonderful works. The king and queen were joined in wedlock. After she returned to her own land she bore a son, whom she named Bainelekhem, "Son of the Wise Man."

When Bainelekhem became a man he was told that Solomon was his father. Then he left his mother and went, with a retinue of young men, to Jerusalem.

He was like unto Solomon, so that as he entered the city the people bowed down, saying, "Lo, the king!" And Solomon, hearing of him, sent messengers and received him, saying, "Thou are like unto my father David, in the flower of his youth." And Bainelekhem showed Solomon the ring that Solomon had given Queen Magda for a token, and Solomon knew him for his own son and named him David, and would have made him heir to the throne of Israel.

"It were better for thee," said Solomon, "to stay in this country, where stands the house of the Lord, where are the tablets of the law. And God dwells with us."

But David besought the king to send him back home, for he pined for "the mountains of the land of my mother, which resembles paradise." So King Solomon consented. And Solomon taught him all the law of Israel. And Solomon chose out sons of all the counsellors and priests and judges and men of war in Israel, to return with King David and rule with him in Ethiopia as their fathers ruled with Solomon in Israel.

These young men were sorrowful at leaving Jerusalem. And Azareas and Elmeas, the sons of Zadoc, the high priest, took counsel, saying, "We are sad because of Sion, the Ark of the Covenant, our Patron." For they believed that the God of Israel dwelt in the Ark, and they feared to lose the favor of Jehovah. And all the young men were sorrowful.

Then Azareas and Elmeas stole the tables of the law from the Ark, in the temple, replacing them with boards of the same size. And when King David and his followers left Jerusalem, the tables of the law went with him, hidden in a chariot. And King Solomon, not knowing that the tables were gone, had given David the sacred coverings of the ark.

When they had departed all Israel was sad. The people mourned and wept, they knew not why. All felt that the glory of Israel had departed. And Solomon, in his distress, sent the high priest to the temple, and lo! the tables of the law were gone.

Then Solomon called his captains of war, and the army of Israel set out in pursuit. But they could not come near the king of Ethiopia, for the Ark of the Covenant blest him and his servants, and his chariots moved forward lightly as the wind, and the archangel Michael led the way, and they passed quickly, with great rejoicing, through Egypt and back to their own land.

And the tables of the law were placed in a sacred place, in the city of Axum, where the descendants of King David, and of the young men of Israel, who came with him, worshiped unto this day.

Thus the glory of the Lord came and abode with the Ethiopians, and departed from Israel.

And Solomon returned, knowing that it was the will of the Lord.

But he gave word that no man should tell that the Ark of the Covenant and Tables of the Law had departed from Israel, lest their enemies should mock them.

SAYS BEVERIDGE WAS TRUST TOOL

TALKS AT RICHMOND

Richmond, Ind., Sept. 20.—Samuel Ralston, democratic candidate for governor, made a bitter attack on Albert J. Beveridge in a speech before the democratic county convention here yesterday afternoon. Ralston declared Beveridge to have been the tool of the harvester and steel trusts when in the United States senate and now the candidate of George W. Perkins.

Throughout this campaign Ralston declared that he would call up speeches of Beveridge which would show him to have been the close friend of big business. The democratic candidate says that he did not intend to get wrathy during the campaign but would content himself with quoting what the leaders in the two factions of the republican party had to say about each other.

In regard to big business Ralston took the position that he did not oppose it as such but was against perverting government to the illegitimate ends of the corporations.

TALKS TO COLLEGE MEN.

Beveridge Delivers Address at Valparaiso University.

Laporte, Ind., Sept. 20.—"Thank you for your cheer young men. They help and strengthen me. They are the clear and fresh note of this great new party that has sprung clean and strong from the hearts of the people. The young men of the state and nation are thronging to the progressive party just as their fathers, when they were young men, thronged to the party which Lincoln founded; just as their forefathers thronged to the party which Jefferson founded and just as young men followed Washington through the hopelessness of Valley Forge to the final triumph at Yorktown." It was in these words that Albert J. Beveridge yesterday addressed the young men of Valparaiso college at Valparaiso.

Appealing to the young men to come with the party, he said:

"Politically there is no other place where young men can go intelligently. The two old parties have no health in them, no soul nor faith in humanity. They do not answer the living questions of the day which must be answered if our constitutions are to be justified—questions which challenge civilization itself."

COULDN'T FIND ENOUGH ETHER

But Surgeons Are Compelled to Operate on Packer Cudahy.

DO A FAST JOB OF IT

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Isolated in his summer home on Mackinac Island, John Cudahy, packer, was operated upon for appendicitis with surgical tools scraped together from country physicians and barely enough ether to keep him asleep.

The thrilling story came to light yesterday with the announcement from the Cudahy home that he was slowly improving and if his condition permits he will be brought to Chicago in about a week.

A little more than a week ago Dr. Hugh T. Patrick was called to the Cudahy home to treat Mrs. Cudahy, who was troubled with a nervous headache. After he had prescribed for her Mrs. Cudahy said her husband had not been well and asked the physician to see him. Dr. Patrick examined Mr. Cudahy and at once determined that appendicitis was the ailment.

"You must go on the operating table within twenty-four hours or I cannot answer for the consequences," Dr. Patrick told him.

But Dr. Patrick is not a surgeon. Some one happened to remember that Dr. L. L. MacArthur, the Chicago surgeon, was due to arrive at Mackinac Island that day. Dr. Patrick at once prepared a room for the operation and then started a search for ether. There was none on the island.

The colonists went to the rescue and crossed to St. Ignace. Hessel and Les Cheneaux, gathering small quantities of the precious fluid from physicians and druggists. They pooled their meager supply, but when Dr. MacArthur arrived he said it was not enough. As it was all that could be obtained and the operation was deemed imperative, Dr. MacArthur proceeded. He worked with great speed, but it was with difficulty that the patient could be kept asleep. Had it lasted ten minutes longer he would have died.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 20.—Rough weather northwest today strengthened the wheat market. December started at 91½c to 91⅝c, and rose to 91¾c.
Corn strength aided in lifting wheat and the close was higher for December at 91⅝@91½c.
Cold to continue and assertions that the Kansas yield would prove 20,000,000 bushels under the government's figures, made corn firm. December opened at 52¼c to 53⅛c and advanced to 53⅝@53⅝c.
Prices ascended still further in consequence of a promised freeze. The close was nervous with December at 54⅛@54¾c.
Oats tightened, owing to the fact that shippers have not yet received deliveries on this month's contracts. December started at 32⅝c to 32½c and climbed to 32⅝c.
An upturn in the hog market carried provisions higher. First sales with January were $18.35 for pork, $10.52½ to $10.55 for lard and $9.85 for ribs.

CHANCE IS RECOVERING.

Cubs' First Baseman Will Be Up in Week After Operation.

New York, Sept. 20.—Frank Chance, the manager and first baseman of the Chicago Cubs, is recovering rapidly from the operation which he underwent to relieve brain pressure resulting from injuries to his skull caused by being hit repeatedly by pitched balls. His doctor said today that Chance would be up in a week and would be able to witness the world's series.
"The operation was delicate, but not very painful, or extensive enough to cause any serious after-effect or pain or disability," said the doctor. "Mr. Chance could put on his playing clothes and enter the game in three weeks if there were any necessity for it. But I have advised him to give up any violent exercise for the rest of this season. He will be all right in the spring and will be in better condition as a player and manager than he has been in two years.

DENOUNCE ROOSEVELT CROWD.

South Dakota Republicans Adopt Some Scorching Resolutions.

Mitchell, S. D., Sept. 20.—A mass state convention of republicans last night adopted resolutions in which Roosevelt and the progressive candidates in South Dakota were severely denounced.
The resolutions also declared that at the Huron convention presidential electors were named who were openly against President Taft, thus disfranchising those who declined to vote for him.
The action of Senator Coe I. Crawford, Gov. R. S. Vesey and National Committeeman Thomas Thorson in supporting Roosevelt was denounced. The convention demanded that the national republican committee remove Thorson and appoint J. F. Halliday to the place.

TOMORROW DAY OF ATONEMENT

Observance of Solemn Jewish Holiday Begins This Evening.

THE LOCAL SERVICE

At the Jewish synagogue, corner Wayne and Harrison streets, services will be held in celebration of the Day of Atonement, this evening at 7:45 o'clock, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Subjects of sermons: This evening, "Forgiveness;" Saturday morning, "An Ideal of Humulity;" Saturday afternoon, "Character as Reflected in Our Conception of the Life Beyond." All are welcome.

The Day of Atonement.

The Day of Atonement (Yom Kippur), the holiest day in the Jewish calendar, falls this year on the 21st day of September. The Hebrew date is the 10th of Tishri. The festival is ordained in Leviticus xvi 29 34 and xxiii 26-32. In both passages it is styled "A Sabbath of solemn rest."

The purpose of the Day of Atonement is clearly indicated by its name. It is intended to complete and crown the work of the penitential season, begun on the first of Tishri (New Year), by finally reconciling the soul with the Almighty. Implicitly trusting in the Divine forgiveness, the Israelite believes that his contrition, if it be really sincere, will atone for him, will make him "at one" once more with his heavenly Father. The day, then, is devoted to a supreme effort of penitence, to a mighty endeavor after communion with the Almighty. It is spent in prayer and meditation.

It is kept, too, as fast, in obedience to the command given in each of the two passages above cited where the expression "afflict his soul" must be understood, as it is throughout the Bible, as synonymous with fasting.

The chief, the real aim of the Day of Atonement, is the reformed life. All the external elements of the day's observance—its worship and austerities—are intended to promote this supreme purpose. They cannot do duty for it. The act of fasting is partly to serve as a self-imposed chastisement, and partly it has a reflex influence. For hunger and weakness tell upon the conscience; they mortify pride, break down obstinacy, cast men down before God in humility and contrition. But fasting does even more than that. Taking the worshipper away from such carnal occupations as eating and drinking, it helps to fix his thoughts upon the needs of the soul. It makes the day one of physical abstinence and self-denial, but also of correspondingly increased spirituality.
